Govt on Covid alert, screening of fliers begins

Cases of contagious Omicron subvariant BF.7 driving China's surge, found in India...

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

WITH at least three cases of the Omicron subvariant that is driving the Covid surge in China being reported in India, Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya on Wednesday held a high-level review meeting and announced a series of steps to deal with it.

While urging people to realise that Covid is not over yet, he announced the stepping up random screening of international passengers at airports, especially those who are travelling from countries reporting a spike in cases. Mandaviya also urged people to wear masks in crowded places and take booster doses.

The subvariant the world is worried about is called BF.7. While its first case in India was detected in October in Gujarat, the second one was detected a month later from the same state. The third case was from Odisha.

Besides China, BF.7 has been detected in countries like the US, the UK and European Union, Belgium, Germany, France and Denmark.

Mandaviya advised all states and Union territories to send samples daily of all Covid-19 positive cases to INSACOG labs to facilitate tracking the new variants. He noted the importance of being prepared and remaining alert against new and emerging strains, especially given the upcoming festive season. He also urged people to follow Covid-appropriate behaviour.

India has been witnessing a steady decline in cases, with average daily count falling to 158 in the week ending December 19. However, a consistent rise in global cases has been reported in the last six weeks, with 5.9 lakh average daily cases reported in the week ending December 19. The case count is particularly high in China, Japan, South Korea, France and the US.

Incubation short, is highly transmissible

BF.7, a sub-lineage of Omicron variant BA.5, has the strongest infection ability since it is highly transmissible, has a shorter incubation period and a higher capacity to cause reinfection or infect even those vaccinated

...Cong bristles at Centre's pandemic advisory to Yatra

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

AMID concerns over Covid cases, a political slugfest broke out on Wednesday after Union health minister Mansukh Mandaviya wrote to Rahul Gandhi, asking him to ensure Covid-19 guidelines are followed during the Bharat Jodo Yatra or to suspend it in "national interest", with the Congress taking on the BJP, and accused it of playing politics.

In his letter dated December 20, the minister requested the Congress leader to ensure Covid guidelines, including masks and sanitisers, are strictly followed, and only those vaccinated are allowed to participate in the Yatra.

"If Covid protocol cannot be followed, then, given the public health emergency, and to save the country from the Covid pandemic, I request you to suspend the Bharat Jodo Yatra in the national interest," the letter said.

Reacting to the letter, Congress leader Jairam Ramesh said, "Public health is far too serious an issue to play party politics. If there is a protocol for gatherings, Bharat Jodo Yatra will abide by it." Later speaking to reporters, Mandaviya said it is his "duty to ensure Covid doesn't spread in the country".

CJI proposes, govt disposes any relook in age of consent

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

DAYS after Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud urged Parliament to address concerns related to the age of consent under the POCSO Act, which criminalises consensual sex even in romantic relationships for those under the age of 18, the Centre emphatically ruled it out on Wednesday.

The question "does not arise", Women and Child Development Minister Smriti Z. Irani told the Rajya Sabha in a written reply to a question whether the government is considering changing the age of consent for consensual relationships to 16 years from the present 18. She said the POCSO Act to safeguard children from sexual abuse and sexual offences, clearly defines a child below the age of 18 years.

Raut: China-like stealth to enter K'taka

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

THE ongoing Karnataka-Maharashtra border issue took a new turn on Wednesday with senior Shiv Sena (Uddhav Balasaheb Thackeray) and Rajya Sabha member from Maharashtra, Sanjay Raut kicking up a fresh row by saying, "Like China entered the country, we will enter Karnataka. We don't need anyone's permission. We want to solve it through discussion but Karnataka CM (Basavaraj Bommai) is igniting fire."

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai was quick to reply to the controversial statement by saying, "Just like how Indian soldiers chased Chinese soldiers away, we all Kannadigas will do the same."

Speaking to the media in Belagavi on Wednesday, Bommai said, "We are not a country that will be attacked by others. We are all living in the same nation. Anyway, I will give a fitting reply (to Raut) and also bring the issue to the notice of Union Home Minister Amit Shah."

The CM also said he would make a statement in this regard in the legislative assembly on Thursday.

Earlier, Bommai said, "It seems Maharashtra leaders have lost their mental balance if one goes by the way they have been speaking about the border issue both inside and outside the House. They are bent upon politicising the issue. The NCP leaders too had resorted to this kind of politics in the past, but failed. They will fail again."

He also said that the leaders of opposition parties in Maharashtra should stop issuing irresponsible statements on the boundary issue. P4

Panel to save monuments sits in crumbling edifice!

B K LAKSHMIKANTHA @ Mysuru

IN an irony of sorts, a 127-year-old building, where authorities conduct meetings to discuss how to protect heritage structures in Mysuru, is itself in a dilapidated condition. The building houses the deputy commissioner's (DC) office, where Mysuru District Heritage Committee, headed by the DC himself, holds regular meetings to discuss the maintenance and renovation of heritage structures in the district.

The committee also comprises heads of various departments and heritage experts.

Lack of maintenance for years has led to the growth of huge plants and weeds inside the walls, which have developed cracks. The lives of hundreds of staff members who are working in various departments housed in the heritage building are at risk.

Mysuru District Heritage Committee member Prof N S Rangaraju told The New Indian Express, "It's been two years since the plaster around the kalasha on the dome, which acts as a lightning arrester, came off. I have been telling the authorities to repair it but to no avail.

There has been extreme callousness on the part of the authorities in maintaining heritage structures".

Plants growing out of cracks in the building which houses the DC's office in Mysuru | UDAYASHANKAR S

The two-storeyed DC office with 27 rooms was built in 1895 by Mysuru Maharaja, where Mysore Representative Assembly meetings were held. Despite a new District Office Complex built in Siddartha Layout on Bannur Road during the Siddaramaiah-led state government, the office is yet to shift to the new building.

Most of the plants growing on the structure belong to the Arali Mara species, seeds of which are brought by birds. The plants start to grow when rainwater starts stagnating in the building. The sand and moisture allows the roots to spread inside the walls. During maintenance work, workers remove the outer part of the plants but the roots inside the walls continue to grow deep, Rangaraju said. P4

B'luru techie ends life by inhaling nitrogen gas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 51-year-old software engineer suffering from heart-related problems ended his life by inhaling nitrogen gas and covering his face with a plastic cover sitting inside his car. The deceased has been identified as Vijay Kumar, a resident of Mahalakshmi Layout.

"Investigations revealed that Vijay Kumar had parked the car and told a roadside paani puri vendor that he was feeling very tired and would rest in the car. He gave him some money requesting him to put the car cover after he sits inside. The body was found on the rear seat and Kumar had covered his face with a plastic cover before sticking a pipe attached to a nitrogen cylinder in his nostril. Prima facie, he died by inhaling nitrogen, but we are awaiting medical reports," the police added. P3

Temple site 'lands' in controversy

Banashankari Temple committee, teachers' association claim ownership of property

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

THE Banashankari Temple site has become a bone of contention between the temple committee and Kendriya Upadhyayara Sangha, a teachers' association, as both have been claiming rights over the property.

The temple committee has alleged that there was a trespassing attempt on the temple site, which belongs to the Muzrai department. The Sangha had also put up a board, which was removed on Sunday.

The Sangha, however, said it was allotted the land in 1984 by the Bengaluru Development Authority (BDA) and it had paid Rs 2,31,250.

Executive Officer Padma K told The New Indian Express that the temple site is 3 acres and 26 guntas in two different Survey Numbers of 63/2 and 63/3. When the department decided to put up a compound wall, a board claiming that a part of the land belongs to the Sangha came up.

A board put up by the Kendriya Upadhyayara Sangha on the premises of the Banashankari Temple being removed | EXPRESS

"The board was removed and a complaint filed at the police station. We have written to the BDA to give us records to verify ownership. The Sangha is claiming that the land was allotted to it in 1984. We will check the documents and take further steps," she said.

Banashankari Temple Development Committee Chairman AH Basavaraju said not an inch of land will be given as it belongs to the temple. "A Detailed Project Report (DPR) to build a complex and community hall is ready. This is being done deliberately. Would they do it, if it is a private property," he asked. He alleged that the Sangha is trying to grab the land by making fictitious claims.

Denying the charges, Sangha president Nanjesh Gowda said the Sangha got the land parcel from the government and it has all the records. "Even in the 11th column of the pahani, it is clearly mentioned that the right over the land is with Sangha," he stressed.

"On November 29, after our board at the site was damaged, we filed a police complaint. The Banashankari police told us that since this is a civil matter, it should be settled in the court. We will appoint a lawyer to represent us in the court and ensure justice," he said.

Work has stil not started at the Veeranna Palya Metro station due to the delay in shifting of the gas pipeline | EXPRESS

It's a gas mess on Metro line, work held up

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THE shifting of a live gas pipeline crucial to facilitiate construction of the Veerannapalya Metro station on the KR Puram-Kempegowda International Airport Line (Phase 2B) has suffered a major delay as materials required to lay a new pipeline have been stolen, said sources. A new consignment is arriving from Uttar Pradesh and work might start in a couple of days.

The Phase 2B line runs to 37 km and has 17 stations with Veerannapalya positioned between Nagawara and Kempapura stations, close to the Embassy Manyata Business Park. The contract to shift this 750m gas pipeline of the Gas Authority of India Limited (GAIL) is being done by Aakash Constructions.

"After the new gas pipeline is readied and the gas flow shifted to it, only then can the old underground pipeline that runs 5 metres below the ground be removed. No work has been done in connection with the shifting in the last fortnight. This is because the equipments required to ready the new pipeline and other materials required to lay it have been stolen," said a reliable BMRCL source. The same was conveyed by GAIL to Metro officials in a meeting held on Tuesday.

Another source said, "BMRCL has extended the deadline to shift the pipeline up to January 2023 now. It was supposed to be completed by the end of this year."

Another individual familiar with the developments claimed it was not theft of materials, but a blunder by the contractor in bringing in fewer quantity of welding materials. "On realising that it would not be enough, more material is being bought from UP. It is not available easily anywhere else."

Metro work is being carried out on areas on either side of the station from Hebbal as well as Nagawara. "No work has started for this station here and it is severely inconveniencing other construction work done along this stretch," an official said.

'Hold public consultation before passing BMLTA bill'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

BUS Prayanikara Vedike, a group working on improving public transport in the city, has strongly opposed the tabling of the Bangalore Metropolitan Land Transport Authority (BMLTA) bill in its present form in the ongoing winter session in Belagavi.

Their main contentions were that the public were not consulted during the drafting of the bill and it was made available only in English. The forum is demanding that these must be addressed before the bill is passed.

The bill, drafted by the Directorate of Urban Land Transport (DULT), aims to promote seamless mobility through urban transport through the constitution of the authority by integrating the functions of multiple civic agencies and departments.

In a letter addressed to the Additional Chief Secretary, Urban Development Department, dated December 20, the forum's Vinay Sreenivasa said the bill is not in line with the 74th constitutional amendment that grants power to urban local bodies take decisions to improve mobility in the city. "This bill is not in sync with the city's master plan and the state government is aiming to pass the bill in the ongoing winter session without public consultation," he added.

In the absence of the draft legislation in Kannada, Sreenivas said many organisations and locals could not understand the bill and engage in the development.

CITY-based RV University has received a grant of 3 million Norwegian Kroner, equivalent to Rs 2.5 crore, for a global environmental humanities project. The project, led by the Arctic University of Norway, in association with University of Campinas, Brazil; RV University, Bengaluru, and the Highland Institute, Kohima.

The project will bring together scholars, students and researchers working in three of the most valuable and fragile ecosystems of the planet – the Arctic, the Eastern Himalayas and the Amazon. The aim of the project is to create a multi-national, multi-institutional MA Programme for Global Environmental Humanities by providing learning opportunities by mutual student exchange programme to and from Norway, student participation in international research projects at all partnering institutions, four winter and summer schools, knowledge dissemination, environmental artwork, publications and a major concluding conference.

Awarded by the Norwegian Directorate for Higher Education and Skills, the four-year project will be executed by the Institute for Archaeology, History, Religious Studies and Theology at the Arctic University and the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences (SoLAS), RV University, along with other partners.

GOVT PUSHES DIGITISATION OF EDU, STUDENTS RAISE CONCERN

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

WITH the pandemic normalising the use of technology in education, the state government has been working on digitising of the education sector to ensure that it is up-to-date and transparent. However, students, teachers and parents have raised concern at the reliance on technology in education.

While students believe that online education and technology feel impersonal compared to physical classes, parents are worried about the health effects of using technology for a long time, both at home and during school hours.

Moreover, teachers have highlighted that technology has reduced the attention span of children, leading them to become more indisciplined. Others have also highlighted that the move to digitisation means that students from poor socio-economic backgrounds are being left behind.

"Social media has become a primary source of entertainment and communication for them. It has proven to negatively impact the wellbeing and academic performance of students. Lack of focus, use of inappropriate language, exposure to a lot of age inappropriate content, cyber-bullying are rampant among the children," said Sreepriya Unnikrishnan, head of Ekya School, JP Nagar.

Some students feel that online classes and a move towards digital learning is not the same as in-person classes. "It's easier to get the point across in offline learning. Technology as a whole feels impersonal, especially when used on younger students. It's also very easy to get distracted, so ensuring that basic concepts are retained is hard," said one Class 11 student, who wished to remain anonymous.

Apart from the detached feeling of learning online, the education department's push towards digitisation of processes have also posed a huge problem for students, especially due to the implementation of the Unified University and College Management System (UUCMS).

YEARNING FOR THE HEYDAY

Ball set rolling for bringing back double-decker buses

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bangalore

AFTER being in the works for more than a decade, the plan to bring back double-decker buses on Bengaluru roads once again will be a reality soon. In the 1970s and 80s, double-decker buses were quite a common feature in the city, but were phased out by the Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation in 1997.

The transport utility has been working on this for a long time, but the matter didn't proceed much from the drawing board. This time, however, the BMTC has set the ball rolling on getting double-decker buses on the roads.

In its expression of interest notification to procure 10 electric AC double-decker buses put out in November, BMTC specified that the bidding company should have an experience of manufacturing and supplying a minimum of 100 battery operated electric buses of different variants that are compliant to the statutory requirements of the Motor Vehicle Act.

BMTC Director (IT) A V Surya Sen noted that there are very few who are into manufacturing double-decker buses. "We have received expressions of interest from manufacturers and we will float the tender soon for five electric AC double-decker buses initially," he said.

Once the first five buses are delivered, the transport utility will float a tender for another five buses after approval under the National Clean Air Programme.

The electric double-decker buses will be 9 metres long and are expected to have a capacity to operate 200km on a single charge. On routes that these buses will be operating on, Sen said, "We have not decided on the routes yet. It is not a big deal and we will decide on the route once the first five buses are delivered to us."

Earlier, double-decker buses used to be run from KR Market and Majestic to places like Shivajinagar, Doopanahalli and Jayanagar. The BMTC still has the last double-decker bus, named Kaveri, which is rented out for film shootings.

"Given the tremendous development the city has witnessed, with flyovers, underpasses and railway bridges coming up all over apart from tree branches and hanging cables, it will be tough to operate the buses in core city areas," a source from the BMTC said and added that a survey will be done to choose the routes and chances are that the buses may ply on the outskirts of the city.

PETER VIDAL

22ND December : We live in an amazing world. I have told you before about the multiverse, which contains many universes. We know that this is really an ancient idea, described in the Vedas, and astronomers are now catching up. There might be an infinite number of multiverses, going on into space and time for ever and ever. What I want to know is what astrology is like in the multiverse!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
There are some wonderfully powerful planetary indicators, most of which favour Arien qualities, these being a mixture of good humour with self-interest. Suddenly the whole world should look like a reasonably friendly place, in a strange and unpredictable sort of a way!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You may be tempted to try your luck, but the fact is that gamblers usually lose. This is why the same planetary factors that urge you to take a risk, also urge you to double-check all details. If you are determined to go ahead, it may be possible to arrange some sort of fall-back position.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Increasingly, this is a time for a spot of raw ambition. What do you really want do to? Who do you really want to be with? Once you have this little lot figured out you can begin to make your dreams come true. You might even emerge much wiser, if a little bruised!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The reason for colleagues' off-hand behaviour and partners' unsympa-thetic attitudes is not that they are uncaring. Rather, you should realise that they may be suffering from the weight of their own emotional burdens, and unable to pay full attention to yours.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
According to astrologers, each manifestation of life contains the seeds of its exact opposite. This was never more true than today, so whatever extremes of feeling or experience you hit, realise that things could change at any moment. Every problem presents you with a new opportunity.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Today's most interesting planetary aspect could have an influence that far outweighs anything that happens this week, propelling you into fighting for your beliefs and principles. Do not shirk your duty, but stand up for what you know to be right.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Planetary conditions are turbulent, indicating upsets in your psychological 'weather'. The best way in which you can help yourself is to disengage from whatever source of controversy is bothering you and take the long-term view. Also, remember that other people might just be right!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Warning signals continue in the financial sectors of your solar chart, so you must maintain a proper sense of decorum when it comes to questions of cash. You are better off than most people at the moment, in the sense that they will be more dependent on you than you on them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Everything seems to hinge around your need for status and prestige. The problem is that such things have to be earned through consistent and long-term effort, whereas now you do seem to be in danger of risking a few short cuts. If you leave out the difficult bits, then it's unlikely that you'll make the most of the easy bits!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
One important factor in your chart, I haven't mentioned so far this week, concerns overseas travel, and a certain adventurous streak in your personality which could see you wandering to a far corner of the globe, or at least developing adventurous elements in your daily life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
All your instincts and hunches should prove correct, but that's not a great deal of use if other people refuse to listen or take any notice. In social engagements, go for change and excitement: you could be attracted to people who like to take risks.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
An unexpected turn of events may come as a welcome salvation. Press ahead with the very un-Piscean task of building up your reputation. Once again, people at work may be overstepping the mark. But what are you going to do about it? If you tell them what you really think then you may not be prepared for the consequences.

Covid scare: Min urges people to take booster

Amidst China surge, Sudhakar says state to follow Centre's advisory to send samples for genome sequencing

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH a surge in Covid-19 cases in China, Japan and the US and a few other countries, Karnataka Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar has urged people in the state to take the precautionary (booster) dose of the Covid-19 vaccine. So far, only 20% of the people in Karnataka have taken the booster dose, the minister said.

Dr Sudhakar also said that Karnataka will comply with the Union Health Ministry's advisory to send samples of all positive Covid-19 cases for genome sequencing to trace new variants. "Appropriate steps will be taken to trace any new variants," he added.

Further, screening will also be done at Bengaluru's Kempegowda International Airport to identify infected passengers, he added on the measures taken to check the spread of the virus.

He further said that new guidelines will soon be released in this regard. The samples of all passengers testing positive for Covid-19 will be sent to INSACOG (Indian SARC-COV-2 Genomics Consortium) to study if any new variants are found, he elaborated.

Meanwhile, Dr MK Sudarshan, chairman, Karnataka Technical Advisory Committee, told TNIE that in the past few months people in the state have become lenient and did not come forward to get their booster shot. People have even stopped wearing masks, he said. Meanwhile, 18 new cases were reported in Karnataka on Wednesday taking the active caseload to 1,263. Twenty-seven people recovered on Tuesday taking the recovery rate to 98.97%.

Meanwhile, 3,622 rapid antigen detection and RT PCR tests were conducted in Karnataka on Wednesday. Total passengers screened at Bengaluru airport was 5,692.

As many as 5.51 crore people have taken the first dose of vaccine and 5.53 crore people have taken the second dose in Karnataka.

However, the Covid portal showed that only 1.03 crore people in Karnataka had taken the precautionary dose.

Beware high infections in winter: Expert

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

WITH cases of the new Covid19 variant BF.7 being reported globally and in India, experts advise citizens to be cautious, more so because it is winter and there will be more viral infections.

Noted virologist V Ravi said winter is the season when the virus transmission is high and citizens should be cautious.

"They should not forget the mantra: Our safety is our responsibility. They should avoid being part of gatherings. We all know the Covid-Appropriate Behaviour -- wear a mask, use sanitizer and maintain social distancing," he said.

The vaccinated group, even if affected with the new variant, will have mild symptoms and there is no need to panic. Of those who have not been vaccinated, 80 per cent could experience mild symptoms, 10- 15 per cent moderate to severe conditions and 5 per cent could get critical which could even be fatal.

For children, who have not been vaccinated and have been experiencing frequent viral infections due to season change and winters, Ravi said that children generally handle situations better.

Children are reporting multiple viruses and infections including the common respirator syncytial virus, influenza and rhinovirus. Testing for Covid should be based on the advice of doctors, he said.

The symptoms for the new variant are the same as the old ones. Anyone with symptoms should immediately consult a doctor before rushing for testing, he said.

Kin do not suspect foul play

POLICE said he had undergone a heart bypass surgery a few months ago but his health continued to deteriorate. He was mentally disturbed due to his health condition and had also told his family members on multiple occasions that he would end his life soon.

"On Monday morning, he left home in his car informing his family that he was going to office. In the evening, his body was found in the car next to a park near his house. Some passersby who grew suspicious, opened the door of the car to find the body inside and alerted the police," the police said. It is highly likely that Kumar had searched on the internet on how to kill himself and decided to end his life by using nitrogen gas, the police said, adding that the family members do not suspect any foul play. The Mahalakshmi Layout police have registered a case of unnatural death.

Call 112 before going to police station: Top cop

BENGALURU: Bengaluru City Police Commissioner C H Pratap Reddy has urged the public to call 112 in case of emergency situations before going to the nearest police station. By dialling 112, the complaints will be in voice record format and will be monitored by senior officials, he said. He also advised people to be alert against cyber crimes which are on the rise. He added that building owners should install CCTV cameras as it helps help in curbing crime.

New Year's celebration on Brigade Road doubtful

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

WITH a spurt in Covid-19 cases abroad, and an advisory from the Health Ministry to states to follow safety protocols, health authorities at BBMP have expressed concerns over crowds during New Year's Eve. Accordingly, the gathering of revellers at the iconic Brigade Road and MG Road on December 31 remains doubtful.

A health official of BBMP said with Bengaluru already witnessing Covid-related tragedies during the second wave, the city cannot handle a similar pressure. "As Bengaluru City has more people from rural areas employed in hotels and other places, who are vulnerable to the spread of infection, allowing gatherings and neglecting protocols may prove costly," said an official.

The BBMP is also awaiting advisory from the Technical Advisory Committee as a Covid variant that is surging in China has been detected in parts of India recently. "We have already instructed that the Covid protocols like wearing of masks and maintaining social distance while stepping out of homes should be followed. The guidelines for New Year's are yet to be issued, as only after the TAC advisory, the Palike will decide new guidelines," said Special Commissioner, BBMP Health Department, Dr KV Thrilok Chandra.

Meanwhile, the Brigade Road, Church Street and MG Road Traders associations are gearing up for the big bash. However, Suhail Yusuf, Secretary of Brigade Road Shops and Establishments Association, said, "In case, the authority suggests suspending the gathering, we will follow the BBMP's and the police department's directions strictly."

TAC chairman suggests precautionary measures

BENGALURU: Following the surge in Covid cases in China, Japan, Brazil, the US and Korea, Dr M K Sudarshan, Chairman of the Covid-19 Technical Advisory Committee (TAC), said that the rise is definitely a cause of worry for the state. Dr Sudarshan suggested that the state follows three mandatory steps with immediate effect: First, to make masks mandatory indoors; Second, to get booster doses administered; and Third, to get people who are symptomatic tested for the coronavirus. Dr Sudarshan said, "One of the first things that should be done is to ramp up the booster dose vaccination. All those who have received two doses of the Covid vaccine should immediately take the booster dose, which should be procured and made available for people across the state. Next, is to ramp up testing. Those symptomatic should immediately be tested and opt for home-isolation." He said that the third immediate step is to make masks mandatory. "At all closed places and indoors, masks should be mandatory," he said. Citing the letter of the Union Secretary for Health, Rajesh Bhushan, to states, Dr Sudarshan said that more samples of those testing positive must be sent for genomic sequencing. He added that the sewage surveillance (measuring SARS-CoV2 levels in untreated wastewater) has been going on in Bengaluru since June, and there is no virus isolated in that surveillance. "Bengaluru was the epicentre of Covid-19 in Karnataka. Sewage surveillance can show us if there is a Covid spread in the community. From the past six weeks, there is no isolation of the virus in the sewage surveillance," Dr Sudarshan mentioned. ENS

CHAOS IN HOUSE AS MINISTERS SHOUT AT CONG MLA

Cong leaders protest BJP's attack on one of their own; Assembly fails to carry out any business in morning session

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Belagavi

ALLEGED rude behaviour by ministers targeting Congress MLA HD Ranganath pushed the entire morning session of the Assembly on Wednesday into commotion as Congress members jumped into the well and held a long-drawn protest. What angered the opposition members was the reluctance of ministers to apologise that pushed the House to two adjournments. The controversy was resolved after a meeting with ruling and opposition leaders.

It all started with Ranganath, who wanted rural bus services improved, refusing to leave the well despite Transport Minister B Sriramulu assuring the House that the problem would be addressed. Water Resources Minister Govind Karjol and Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister J Madhu Swamy, who were visibly angry, raised their voice at Ranganath and asked him to go back to his seat.

This infuriated opposition benches and Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah and other MLAs too joined Ranganath in the well. Even as they shouted slogans against the ministers and the government, Siddaramaiah alleged that the tone of the ministers, particularly of Karjol, was threatening and it cannot be tolerated. He demanded an apology from Karjol and also a half-an-hour discussion on inadequate bus services in rural areas.

BJP members too got into the scene, came near the well and started raising slogans. As the ruckus continued, Kumar Bangarappa, who was on the Speaker's chair, adjourned the House. But the deadlock continued when the session resumed 20 minutes later.

Madhu Swamy requested Congress MLAs not to drag the issue, but the opposition members were adamant about his apology. As the minister was addressing the chair, Congress MLA Anjali Nimbalkar tried to argue with him, angering Madhu Swamy, who shouted at her: "Don't talk to me like this".

This further enraged Congress members, who targeted their slogans at Madhu Swamy. Both Congress and BJP MLAs shouted 'Chor…Chor' at each other. The pandemonium continued as members were not ready to listen to repeated pleas of the chair asking them to maintain restraint.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai intervened and requested Congress members not to escalate the issue. But opposition MLAs continued their protest. Siddaramaiah said the respect of members cannot be compromised and the minister's behaviour is nothing but atrocity. Bommai shot back saying, "You say attack and atrocity on members. Later you say torture."

Amidst the commotion, Madhu Swamy said he would move a resolution seeking the chair to suspend Anjali Nimbalakar which led to a complete chaos. The Speaker again adjourned the House for 15 minutes, but it resumed only after the lunch break.

When it reconvened, Bommai said harsh words may have been exchanged in the heat of the moment and the members should not stand on pride. He requested Congress to cooperate in the smooth functioning of the House. Siddaramaiah too said that respect is mutual, but what happened in the House was unfortunate. Congress will take back the protest in the interest of running the House, he added. He requested the Speaker to expunge the conversations that took place in heated moments.

Maha, K'taka leaders must maintain restraint, says Araga

BELAGAVI: Reacting to the statement of Rajya Sabha member from Maharashtra Sanjay Raut that "Like how China entered the country, we will enter Karnataka", Home Minister Araga Jnanendra said political leaders should not issue statements that will lead to the disruption of normal life on both sides. Speaking to reporters in Belagavi on Wednesday, he recalled the meeting of Union Home Minister Amit Shah with the CMs of both the states, and said that the leaders should show restraint during such moments and both the states must initiate stringent measures to ensure that the law and order situation remained undisturbed.During the recent meeting in New Delhi, Shah had appealed to both the states against issuing controversial remarks that resulted in disturbance. 'Dams are not personal fiefs of Maha MLAs'

"I would also like to say something to the Congress leaders of Karnataka. We have spoken to our leaders in Maharashtra and the Congress should speak to its leaders there. It is not an issue which can be solved on the streets and that is why Maharashtra has moved Supreme Court. And now, when Maharashtra leaders have realised that their case in the apex court is weak, they are trying to gain political mileage," he added.

Raut said he was responding to Bommai's statement in the Assembly on Tuesday that the House will pass a resolution on the issue to send a strong message to Maharashtra. "The Karnataka CM is deliberately adding fuel to the fire as the Maharashtra government, which is weak, is not ready to take a firm stand on the boundary dispute," Raut said.

Also, the issue rocked the ongoing winter session of Maharashtra legislature in Nagpur on Monday. NCP MLA Jayant Patil urged the government not to release water to Karnataka from Maharashtra dams. "The Karnataka CM is very arrogant and he should be replied in his own language. The height of dams, including Koyna, in Maharashtra should be increased," he said.

Karnataka Water Resources Minister, Govind Karjol said the dams in Maharashtra are not the personal property of its MLAs. Meanwhile, former CM Siddaramaiah slammed the BJP governments in Maharashtra, Karnataka and the Centre for their inability to handle the dispute.

NEW COUNCIL CHAIRMAN

Horatti helped develop education in K'taka, says CM

SUNIL PATIL @Belagavi

PRAISING the new Chairman of the Legislative Council, who was unanimously elected on Wednesday, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said, "Basavaraj Horatti has played a key role in the development of education in Karnataka after Independence."

As a senior member of the House and a record eight-time MLC, Horatti had earned the faith of all parties and members to get elected unopposed. In his 42-year term in the Council, he worked for to improve education, in terms of transfer of teachers, establishment of new schools and colleges, and resolving the teachers' issues. "Horatti has good relations with all leaders, and accordingly should lay the foundation for comprehensive development of the state. The debates and discussions in this house should become ideal for all."

Ruling party leader Kota Shrinivas Pujari said, "His long-term achievement cannot be achieved by anyone else in the House. His strict stand has brought revolutionary changes in education. Thanks to him, quality debates and discussions take place in the House. I am thankful to the members of the Congress and JDS for cooperating to elect him unopposed."

Opposition group leader BK Hariprasad thanked pro-tem Chairman Raghunathrao Malkapure for giving equal opportunity to the Opposition, and congratulated Horatti.

"I request you to give more chances to the Opposition members to speak in the House, since their duty is to question the government," he said. Senior members H Vishwanath and Aynoor Manjunath suggested that the Chairman of the House must implement a Parliamentary system and strictly limit the 'Question Hour' to an hour, like in the Rajya Sabha.

OLD MYSURU

BJP, JDS yatras may affect Cong chances

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Bengaluru

BJP's Jana Sankalp Yatra and JDS' Pancharatna campaign ahead of the 2023 Assembly polls could disturb the voter base of Congress in the old Mysuru region.

BJP is trying to dent Congress by wooing its leaders, while JDS has been consolidating its own voter base in the region which was evident from the big response its yatra received. If BJP fields new entrant Indavalu Sachidananda, who is a supporter of Mandya MP Sumalatha, from Srirangapatna, it is likely to affect the prospects of Congress.

In Kunigal of Tumakuru district, former Congress MP SP Muddahanume Gowda, who joined the saffron party recently, could scuttle chances of Congress MLA Dr Ranganath and this may help the JDS candidate, political pundits said.

In Koratagere, which is held by senior Congress leader Dr G Parameshwara, both BJP and JDS have conducted successful rallies, indicating good tradction among people, especially for BJP. "If JDS betters its tally in the old Mysuru region, its traditional bastion, it will indirectly help BJP improve its vote share," a Congress leader observed, adding that BJP is putting all efforts to make use of former CM BS Yediyurappa's image.

By the time Congress starts its yatras by mid-January 2023, BJP and JDS would be halfway through. "JDS announced its first list of 93 candidates recently and senior leader HD Kumaraswamy has been campaigning hard. He has skipped the Belagavi session too. He will concentrate on North Karnataka from January," said a JDS leader.

Cong to shortlist up to 3 candidates in each seat

ENS @ Bengaluru

WINNABILITY, seniority in the party, the capacity to mobilise resources required for elections, and popularity in the constituency will be major criteria for shortlisting Congress candidates for the 2023 Assembly polls.

The Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) has started the process of shortlisting candidates from among ticket aspirants, who have submitted applications.

KPCC president DK Shivakumar has constituted committees that will visit all the districts to shortlist 1-3 candidates and send the list to the state party unit.

Committee members have been informed to only consider candidates who enjoy the confidence of the local population and give priority to youngsters and women, who have a chance of winning the elections.

Shivakumar said the committee members should look at all the applications in their respective districts, assess their strengths and weaknesses, and finalise unanimous candidates after holding consultations with all leaders. In case of any differences among the aspirants, the committee members have been told to take the assistance of KPCC and AICC leaders to resolve the issue.

He also directed the committee members not to hold meetings at residences of leaders and not to allow any recordings. They have also been directed against issuing any statements to the media about the discussions during the meetings. The candidates involved in any anti-social activities or communal acts will not be considered. The committee members have been directed to start holding meetings immediately and send the shortlisted names to KPCC before January 1, 2023.

Meanwhile, former Union minister Margaret Alva will be in-charge of the committee that will look into the applications and shortlist the candidates in Bengaluru City Central, former CM M Veerappa Moily will head the committee in Kolar, and former Union minister KH Muniyappa in Tumakuru.

BCs to protest against Panchamasalis' demand

ENS @ Bengaluru

MEMBERS of the Karnataka State Backward Castes Federation are planning a dharna in front of Suvarna Vidhana Soudha in Belagavi on December 26, opposing the demand of Panchamasali Lingayats seeking 2A reservation.

The Federation has asked members from across the state to join the Soudha protest. "When Panchamasalis utilise the quota under 3B and also have the scope to use 50 per cent general quota, why are they eyeing 2A category, which is shared by 104 castes. We will protest if the government tries to include forward castes in the backward classes quota category," said Federation General Secretary Ennegere R Venkataramaiah.

The protests will be across the state if the quota category is changed without any scientific study, he said, urging the government to release the socio-economic survey conducted by a committee headed by the then Karnataka Backward Classes Commission Chairman H Kantaraju. Karnataka has been conducting scientific studies before recateogorising quota. But well-to-do communities have been grabbing quota under Category 1 and 2 for political reasons, alleged Federation president KM Ramachandrappa.

"Under category 1, there are 95 castes for 4 per cent quota, while 2A has 15 per cent quota for 104 castes which is why Panchamasalis are trying to get that tag. In fact, it should go to the community of artisans, who have been deprived. Without a scientific study, reclassification of quotas is wrong," said former chairman of the backward classes commission Dr CS Dwarakanth.

CT RAVI ATTACKS SONIA, RAHUL, CLAIMS THEY ALWAYS SPEAK AGAINST INDIA

BELAGAVI: BJP national general secretary CT Ravi stoked a controversy when he indirectly targeted Congress leaders Sonia and Rahul Gandhi, and reportedly said, "The dogs of Italy Congress which are in India now will not bark in favour of India, but will do so in favour of Pakistan and China." Speaking to reporters here on Wednesday, he said, "These dogs always bark in favour of Pakistan and China. Congress dogs also barked against India, when the country carried out the surgical strike. These dogs are not from the time of Mahatma Gandhi. Thus, Kharge should be careful about them... The Congress party is changing from time to time. The party which existed before Independence was different, while the present one is different. Congress says that it brought Independence to the country, but is this Independence to loot the country?" ENS

Land procurement delays sports varsity plan

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

THE proposed Karnataka Sports University in Yelahanka, Bengaluru, will take longer that expected due to a delay in procuring the required land. The Sports and Youth Services Department, which started the work on a dedicated sports university earlier this year, is waiting for a clearance from the Revenue Department.

The sports department had identified 100 acres in Yelahanka on the outskirts of Bengaluru. Of this, 65 acres belong to the state government, while the remaining 35 acres have to be acquired from private parties. "The 65 acres belong to the Revenue Department. We have written to them, seeking clearance. Once they clear it, it has to be placed before the cabinet for approval," sources said.

Yelahanka MLA S R Vishwanath said this is a prestigious project for the government. "It will have all the amenities for athletes, including training, college and residential facilities. Procuring land will not be an issue here as most of it belongs to the government. The remaining private land that needs to be acquired is less," he said. The issue will be brought to the notice of concerned authorities so that the project can start early. "This university will help many aspiring athletes," he added.

A senior official from the Sports Department said that in most government projects, the process of acquiring land is delayed as most of it belongs to private parties. "But here, though it is government land, the Revenue Department is delaying it. Till they clear it, it cannot be placed before the cabinet. We were supposed to finish procuring the land by now, but nothing has been done. We hoping that the chief minister announces it in the budget," he said.

Earlier, Sports Minister Narayana Gowda had said he has spoken to Central government authorities and he was expecting the Centre too to fund the project. Gowda had first announced the plan in April this year, but nothing has moved eight months down the line.

India can still extract gold: KGF miners to PM

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

THE Indians' love for gold has cost the country dear as the imports of the yellow metal have shot a hole of Rs 3.4 trillion in forex reserves this fiscal.

Now, a group of gold miners from Kolar Gold Fields, home to the famed gold mines that shut operations in February 2001, have come together and written to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, detailing how this money can be saved by extracting over 100 tonnes of gold per annum from Indian mines.

They said that when gold mining was stopped at KGF it was because only 3 gm of gold could be extracted from a tonne of ore which was not economically viable. That was when the price of gold was Rs 5,000 per 8 gm, but now the price has gone up ten times to Rs 50,000. Even with the 3 gm yield, the extraction can be economical as the production costs are still low as compared to the price of gold.

They said gold veins are still available from KGF till Chigurgunta and on the other side, till Srinivaspur. KM Diwakaran, the former chief engineer of Bharat Gold Mines, said a study can be taken up to trace the gold veins and they can be extracted for a few decades till it is economically viable. This will not only save foreign exchange, but also ensure jobs to two lakh miners, he said.

Diwakaran, who comes from a family of three generations of professional gold miners, explained that with the latest technology, gold can even be extracted from mountains of debris and residue left behind in KGF and Hutti Gold Mines through a simple process. It can yield an average of .7 gm of gold per tonne of waste.

They said gold deposits have been found in Kempinkote, Gadag and Ajjanahalli in Raichur close to the Hatti mines. They should be scientifically explored, he added.

The Sri Lankan Navy on Wednesday arrested 11 fishermen from Puducherry and Tamil Nadu for allegedly crossing the International Maritime Boundary Line. Sri Lankan Navy confronted them in their fast-attack craft. The vessel and fishing gear were also seized, sources said

HC sets aside attachment of Xiaomi deposits

But court does not allow mobile company to use funds to pay firms outside India

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday set aside an order passed by the Income Tax Department, attaching a fixed deposit of Rs 3,700 crore of Xiaomi Technology India Private Limited.

The court, however, imposed the condition that Xiaomi should not use the fixed deposit accounts to make royalty or any other form payments to any companies/entities located outside India. But the court gave liberty to Xiaomi to take overdrafts from the fixed deposit accounts and make payments to companies/entities outside India.

Passing the order while partly allowing the petition filed by Xiaomi challenging the provisional attachment order dated August 11, 2022, Justice SR Krishna Kumar directed Income Tax authorities to complete the draft assessment proceedings of Xiaomi for the assessment years 2019-20, 2020-21 and 2021-22 on or before March 31, 2023.

"It is needless to state that the petitioner would be entitled to contest the draft assessment order and proceedings pursuant thereto before the Income Tax Department authorities," the court said.

The deputy commissioner of Income Tax passed the attachment order under Section 281E of the Income Tax Act. Pursuant to this, the Principal Commissioner of Income Tax provisionally attached the fixed deposits of Xiaomi of Rs 3,700 crore, which includes Rs 2,600 crore with HSBC Bank and Rs 1,100 crore with City Bank.

Xiaomi has to pay a royalty to Qualcomm and Beijing Xiaomi Mobile Software Company Ltd. From 2019 to March 2022, there were proceedings between the Income Tax Department and Xiaomi concerning the alleged payment of income tax.

Sangh Parivar adopts X'mas feast diplomacy

K S SREEJITH @T'Puram

THE Sangh Parivar has stepped up efforts to woo the Christian community with a Union minister officially hosting a Christmas feast, the first one after Narendra Modi assumed office, and an RSS-affiliated organisation organising another event to mark the Noel. A cross section of Church heads right from Jammu and Kashmir to Kerala are expected to attend the party organised by the Rashtriya Christian Manch in New Delhi on Friday. Senior RSS leader Indresh Kumar will attend the event.

Minister of State for Minority Affairs John Barla is hosting another feast at Meghalaya House. After Modi came to power, no official feast and Christmas celebrations were held. Though some ministers belonging to the community had organised feasts, those were held in their individual capacity.

Although the Manch had organised Christmas feasts earlier, it's the first time that the parivar outfit is extending invitation to the representatives of Christian denominations from north central Indian states like Madhya Pradesh and Uttar Pradesh, where priests and nuns, and their institutions are under constant attack.

Inviting representatives from Jammu and Kashmir is also politically significant. Allying with another minority community in a Muslim-dominated state is seen as the Sangh Parivar's strategic political move.

"Modi's second tenure was an eye opener for the minority community, especially the Christian church heads," a community leader told TNIE.

Tension as work on shifting of dargah begins in Hubballi

Police and RAF personnel at the dargah site on Wednesday | DHEMANTH

DHARWAD district administration commenced work on shifting of Hazrat Syed Mahmood Shah Qadri Dargah located near Bairidevarkoppa in Hubballi on Wednesday. Prohibitory orders under Section 144 were clamped and the work was undertaken amid tight security.

The dargah is being shifted for widening of the road under the Hubballi-Dharwad Bus Rapid Transit System (BRTS), an initiative of the state government. The road, which is 36-metre wide, will now be widened to 44 metres.

The project was started in 2010, but the Muslim community leaders moved a court in 2016 and brought a stay order. However, the court has now directed the authorities to commence the work.

As many as 250 personnel from the police department and Rapid Action Force were deployed in the area. Police personnel from districts like Karwar, Haveri and Koppal were brought in.

The shifting of the dargah is being carried out by covering the entire area with giant sheets and cloth to block the view from the public.

The permission for holding religious rituals was given before the commencement of the shifting work and five religious heads took part in the rituals.

REPORT ON STATUS OF BUILDINGS AWAITED

THE plants have grown 4 to 5 feet high on the building. Unless the roots are removed, there is danger to the building, Rangaraju said.

After a portion of the Maharani's Science College for Women collapsed recently, the Mysuru District Heritage Committee led by Prof NS Rangaraju has been conducting inspection of all heritage structures in the city. The committee will submit a report to the government in this regard. Mysuru Nature Group member S Shylajesh also told TNIE that plants have been growing on the DC office building for the past several years as there has been no maintenance.

Health official credits Jesus for containing Covid cases

HYDERABAD: Telangana Director of Public Health G Srinivasa Rao landed in trouble on Wednesday after declaring that Covid-19 cases in the state decreased due to the "grace of Jesus Christ" and not due to the services rendered by doctors. Later, he issued a statement urging the media not to distort his statement. "A few media houses are only showing some parts of the video," he said. He clarified that Covid subsided with the support of the government, initiatives taken by CM K Chandrashekar Rao, with the cooperation of employees and due to the prayers of people of different faiths to their respective deities. ENS

Name B'luru-Mys e-way as 'Cauvery Expressway': MP to Gadkari

KARTHIK KK @Mysuru

MYSURU-KODAGU MP Pratap Simha has urged Union Minister of Road Transport and Highways Nitin Gadkari to name the Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway as 'Cauvery Expressway' on the lines of Yamuna Expressway and Ganga Expressway (in Uttar Pradesh) and Narmada Expressway (in Madhya Pradesh).

The 119-km ten-lane Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway is expected to bring down the travel time between the two cities to just 90 minutes.

Simha on Wednesday met Gadkari and submitted a memorandum to consider naming the expressway after the Cauvery keeping in mind the emotion of the people of the region towards the river.

"Known to devout Hindus as Dakshina Ganga, the Cauvery river is celebrated for its serenity and sanctity and its entire course of 765 km in states of Karnataka and Tamil Nadu is considered holy ground. Cauvery river is also important for its irrigation canal projects. Major citizens, including historians, have urged me to impress upon the government to name it as 'Cauvery Expressway' in reverence to one of the holiest rivers in the country which rises on Brahmagiri hills of the Western Ghats in the district of Kodagu, a part of my constituency," Simha stated in the letter to the Union Minister.

AHEAD OF POLLS, QUOTA IS BOON FOR SC/STs IN KARNATAKA

With months to go for assembly elections in Karnataka, the BJP government has tabled a Bill to enhance reservation for SCs and STs in education and employment, giving in to their long-standing demand. The Karnataka Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Reservation of Seats in Educational Institutions and of Appointment or Posts in the services under the state) Bill, 2022, seeks to raise the quota for SCs to 17% from 15% and for STs to 7% from 3%. The Bill, based on the recommendations of the Justice Nagamohan Das Commission, was brought in via ordinance in October and termed a "Diwali gift" by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, who made his government's intent clear. There is a legal wrinkle, though: While total reservation stood at 50%, with 32% for OBCs and 18% for SC/ST combined, the new matrix will take reservation to 56%. Opposition parties demand to know how the government will implement the quota, given the 102 SC castes and around 50 in the ST category. The government has appointed a Cabinet sub-committee to work out internal reservations among the communities and may have to take the Constitutional amendment route to implement it.

While implementation is bound to take long, there is no denying that the BJP has grabbed the first-mover advantage and set its sights firmly on the estimated 16 million SC/ST vote bank. It hopes to undercut the OBC-Dalit base of Congress leaders Siddaramaiah and Mallikarjun Kharge, who recently acquired national status as AICC president. The BJP also hopes the Bill will invigorate its ST Nayak leaders, B Sriramulu and the Jarkiholis. On the flip side, other castes, including Vokkaligas, Lingayats, Panchamasalis and Kurubas, are demanding their own slice of the quota pie.

The need to enhance reservation was felt because the Justice Nagamohan Das Committee found "evidence of social and educational backwardness that renders many of the (SC/ST) castes and communities marginalised". This has been, and remains, the curse of society even 75 years after Independence. While our political classes advocate a casteless society, they play to the gallery and reinforce divisive lines to ensure that caste remains a crucial factor in elections. Instead, they should bring in a robust public education system which can blur differences and end the opportunistic caste culture in vogue today.

SUSTAINABILITY IS KEY IN BUFFER ZONE DEBATE

Almost nine years after the massive agitations against the Madhav Gadgil Panel report, the high ranges of Kerala are simmering with tension and anger. A June 2022 Supreme Court order making it mandatory to have at least one kilometre of Ecologically Sensitive Zone around protected forests is the trigger this time. As mandated by the apex court, the state government has conducted a satellite survey to identify artificial structures around each of the 22 protected areas. Farmers, led by the Catholic Church, have erupted in protest against the survey as they feel this would ultimately lead to eviction from their lands.

The state government, which has so far been receptive towards the concerns raised by the farmers, has made it clear that the satellite survey report would be revised after going through all the complaints received and rectifying the defects if any. Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan convened a high-level meeting, after which it was decided to publish a buffer-zone map to facilitate the public to come up with suggestions and opinions. The deadline for filing complaints has been extended, with an assurance that a field survey, as demanded by the agitators, would be carried out. Taking a cue from neighbouring states, Kerala is also considering the possibility of maintaining one kilometre of a buffer zone around protected forests while opting for a zero-buffer zone in thickly populated areas.

The church argues that applying the same yardsticks for every state is a bad idea as it will negatively affect a densely populated state like Kerala. There is merit in that argument, but the protestors should desist from creating unnecessary insecurities in the inhabitants' minds. While the government should address farmers' genuine concerns, its efforts should not come at the expense of environmental conservation. Kerala, which witnessed two devastating floods in the recent past and reports landslides every rainy season, should always keep the fragility of the land as the focal point. The church, spearheading the agitation, should adopt a more responsible approach and refrain from making provocative remarks, which would only precipitate the situation. Development at the cost of nature would prove detrimental to man in the long run. In the interest of sustainability, which is the need of the hour, political parties and communities should stick together, leaving vested interests aside.

QUICK TAKE

SCREEN FOREIGN ARRIVALS FOR COVID

India initiates probe measures to detect the presence of new Covid-19 variants. The precaution comes in the face of severe infections in China. Many other countries also flag internal alerts following a spurt in cases. Genome-sequencing apart, the government should re-introduce thermal screening of international arrivals at points of entry. Lakhs of Indians are touring abroad, to return in the new year. The less virulent virus is reportedly mutating faster—a good enough reason to resume testing at airports. Also, the vaccine immunity must have waned by now and over half the population skipped the booster shot earlier this year.

Climate-related risks are on the rise, so companies need to upgrade operations, infrastructure and supply chains

ADAPTATION PLAN TO TACKLE INDIA'S CLIMATE RISKS

CHANDRAJIT BANERJEE

Director General, Confederation of Indian Industry

SOURAV ROY

Recent UNEP estimations place adaptation financing requirements in the range of $140 billion to $300 billion by 2030 in developing countries alone. While international adaptation finance flows to developing countries reached $29 billion in 2020, clearly a lot more funding is required. Rightly so, at COP27, there was a strong focus on adaptation and resilience, loss and damage, and climate justice. The most welcome outcome of the Summit was the decision to establish a loss and damage fund that will be operationalised by COP28 in 2023. This decision was important for developing countries who made strong appeals at COP27 with the goal to compensate the countries that are the most vulnerable to climate-related disasters while contributing little to the climate crisis.

It is also good to note that significant progress was made on adaptation, with parties deciding on the establishment of a framework for achieving the Global Goal on Adaptation (GGA). Through the Glasgow–Sharm el-Sheikh work programme (GlaSS) on GGA, the work will conclude by COP28 in 2023—just in time to inform the first Global Stocktake. Pledges totalling $230 million were also made towards the adaptation fund at COP27. While the focus of the conversations around adaptation was on African countries and Small Island Developing States, these outcomes have significant implications for India as well.

The UNESCAP (United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific) Risk and Resilience Portal estimates India's annualised average loss (AAL) from slow-onset hazards, extreme events and biological hazards at $93 billion—or 3.35% of GDP. Recent studies have highlighted that 75% of India's districts are climate hotspots. Various studies have shown how extreme temperatures can seriously affect crop yield. Recent estimates from National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development highlight that about 50% of India's cropped area is rainfed. Other reports state that there has been a 20–40% reduction of agricultural production in rainfed areas due to severe droughts. These events are often linked to an exponential rise in the incidence of pests and diseases. Extreme weather events such as droughts, floods and heat waves all have complex socio-economic implications for our country.

To address its unique riskscape, India should prioritise making new infrastructure resilient, strengthening early warning systems, making water resource management resilient, and improving dryland agriculture crop production. It is important for India to safeguard its food security while ensuring that the most vulnerable sections of the population have access to nutritious food.

In this context, the Sharm el-Sheikh Adaptation Agenda launched at COP27—the first comprehensive global plan to rally states and non-state actors towards a set of adaptation outcomes by 2030—assumes great significance and is an important area of global collaboration and opportunity for our country. Several of the Adaptation Agenda outcomes align very well with India's own ongoing efforts in addressing issues related to adaptation and resilience, food security, energy access, and nature conservation.

India has shown its acknowledgement of the challenges of climate adaptation and building resilience at both national and international levels. Internationally, India plays an important leadership role in the Coalition for Disaster Resilient Infrastructure (CDRI), which is an effort that addresses the multifaceted issues posed by vulnerability of infrastructure systems globally. On the national front, India has established the National Adaptation Fund for Climate Change (NAFCC) scheme to support adaptation activities in climate-vulnerable regions of the country. The PM Gati Shakti plan to invest $1.3 trillion in integrated infrastructure also provides a great opportunity to invest in resilient infrastructure.

Global studies by Swiss Re reveal rising catastrophe losses will translate into an estimated $149–183 billion of new global property premiums by 2040. This will lead to rising insurance premiums around the world for residential and commercial property. Major buyers are expected to face $120 billion in losses from 2020–25 due to rising environmental risks in their supply chains. Yet another CDP report highlighted that the estimated financial risk of reported climate-related risks for Indian businesses was approximately ₹7,000 billion.

Addressing adaptation challenges and building resilience makes business sense for India Inc. Climate-related risks are on the rise and necessitate that companies upgrade their operations, infrastructure and supply chains. While all sectors are affected, food and agriculture, commercial and residential real estate, infrastructure, and companies with extensive supply chains need to be extra vigilant.

The Adaptation Agenda also clearly identifies that non-state actors, particularly businesses, will have a crucial role to play in ensuring investments in resilient infrastructure and in implementing meaningful projects. The focus of the agenda on mobilising required finances—from both public and private sources—for adaptation and resilience, and to spur the world's largest companies to address physical climate risk and develop actionable adaptation plans, is then a big opportunity for Indian business leaders to leverage.

While businesses and the government continue to pursue GHG emissions mitigation on India's road to net-zero emissions, there is an urgent need to address the unavoidable climate-related risks that are on the rise. These climate-related risks impact not only the nation's growth and development but also have substantial impacts on how businesses conduct their operations. Adaptation and resilience activities must receive a more equal share of resources—financial or otherwise—as compared to mitigation activities.

With the Indian Presidency of the G20 in 2023, this is a prime moment for India Inc. to push for the necessity of resilient infrastructure for the good of businesses and the world. As B20 Secretariat, CII will seek to integrate the rising importance of resilient infrastructure, secure global value chains and an equitable global adaptation plan during the discussions that take place over the next year.

Hopefully, the outcomes shall lead to an impactful COP28 that delivers on the adaptation plans and goals under the Glasgow Climate Pact and Sharm el-Sheikh.

MAKING COMPANIES MORE IMMUNE

BUILDING BUSINESSES

R GOPALAKRISHNAN

Author and business commentator

In the last two columns, we reviewed first, the importance of a holistic approach for transformational leaders, and second, a view of corporate neoteny (youthfulness) through an anthropological lens. In this piece, we will view the subject through an immunological lens. Why immunology, of all things?

I worked long for a highly successful global soapmaker, Unilever. I was often ribbed about wasting my career by serving the run-of-the-mill cause of cleaning. During Covid, the New York Times reported what I had not learnt over several decades: that when soap meets water, it develops molecules shaped like a pin. The sharp end of the pin loves oils. Pins seeks out bacteria and viruses, which are encased in an oil film. The pin punctures and kills the spike-like virus, thus preventing the virus from spreading. Wow, I thought.

I further learned that according to the United Nations, soap saves millions of kids from child mortality. If impact on people's lives is a criterion, then it is not a bad way to spend one's career. Vaccines also protect. During the 1800s, health workers and scientists found that kids could be vaccinated to improve their immunity to smallpox.

Corporate crises demonstrate that like humans, organisations also need to guard against invisible attacks. Leaders cannot assure thriving organisational health while ignoring invisible attackers. My uncommon prescription to neutralise invisible attacks on companies is to unleash 'people power'—the commitment, collaboration, motivation, and loyalty of employees. Yes, it does come through as old-fashioned in this era of WFH and moonlighting, but well-tested techniques outlive ephemeral fads. It is for leaders to re-imagine the company's people agenda; HR can help execute, just as the violinist cannot be assigned the task of the orchestra conductor. Unleashing people power comes through as a soft agenda, centering around collaboration, culture, and positivity. However, it helps make a company resilient in the face of attacks from corporate viruses and bacteria. Committed and engaged people are the best immunity for corporate long-life: think of Godrej, Bajaj, Unilever, and Tata.

For a company, a viral attack manifests as employee apathy, disengagement, inconsistent leadership behavior and negativity in the workplace. Leaders tend to focus on efficiency at the expense of human empathy. To connect immunology with a company, I studied the writings of Prof Michael Watkins, an immunologist-turned-management academic. I was inspired by his writings (HBR.org 11th June 2007). The human immune system is an active communication network among a complex set of cells, antibodies and signaling mechanisms, as indeed a company ecosystem is.

The human ecosystem is arranged in three layers: outermost is the physical layer, like our skin and the mucous system; the second is the genetic layer, which is the protective layer of cells that we are born with; finally there is the adaptive layer, which refers to the mechanisms that recognise and respond to an attack.

What are the equivalents for a company? Corporate immunity is provided in three layers: the physical (people's collaboration), genetic (purposeful culture), adaptive layer (positivity).

R SATISH BABU

> For a company, a viral attack manifests as employee apathy, disengagement, inconsistent leadership behavior and negativity

A highly engaged workforce is the physical layer of company immunisation. Engaged employees care for the company deeply, recommend the company to non-employees, work collaboratively and emotionally guard the company against unwelcome attackers. Employee engagement data for the last decade and a half shows that in most companies everywhere, employee engagement has steadily declined. This is an unfavorable trend.

As a live example of employee engagement, I recall the magnificent response of Taj Hotels employees during the terrorist attack of 26-11.

Company culture is like the hot air in a hand dryer—one can feel it, but not see it. The human immune system works by recognising what is 'self' and 'non-self', and by maintaining an equilibrium between overreaction and underreaction. Every organisation has a political system and culture, which defines what is perceived as 'self'. Culture acts like the second layer, the genetic layer of the immune system, by preventing destructive thinking from invading the company.

Every company has an articulated or implicit corporate purpose, which is the basis for the employees' concept of 'self'. For example, in normal times, technologists and infrastructure-oriented/engineering managers scoff at consumer marketers and makers of soap and toilet cleaners. During Covid, fast moving consumer goods employees got a sense of renewed purpose, just as hospitals and medical professionals did.

Psychology Professor Barbara Fredrickson is a thought leader in positive psychology. According to her, when the ratio of positivity to negativity is equal to 3, then employees are positive and build resilience to adversity. According to her, 80% of American employees are less than 3; I wonder about Indian employees. She has developed a technique to measure positivity and negativity. In my experience, with leaders visibly practicing good listening and empathy, positivity increases.

Humans fight invasive threats through an adaptive mechanism—the brain, analogous to top leadership, and the senses, analogous to the far ends of the organisation. The signals of external attack are first sensed at the periphery, that is, front-line salesmen and the factory workers. That is why top leaders must connect with the least powerful people in their organisation; they must welcome diverse expert opinions. That is how management can secure employee engagement and positivity.

Company leaders should reflect on how to unleash collaboration, purposeful culture and positivity. Together, they constitute people power, which is the best immunisation for the company.

Think about what you can do as a senior leader. Leaving it as a top leadership or promoter agenda is a mistake.

Transport in India

Apropos of How ease of travel can become a reality in India (Dec 21). Vinay Sahasrabuddhe's column is highly enlightening. Although the improving infrastructure facilities are really making travel an enjoyable experience, there are certain areas where special attention is needed. Facilities need to be modernised.

Besharam Rang controversy

Namrata Joshi's column Besharam Rang: Showing our true colours (Dec 21) highlights the negativity and closed mindset of certain groups who are criticising the saffron dress worn by Deepika. Although I agree with the views raised in the column, certain other voices who are up against the name of the movie Pathaan have been intentionally ignored. Why the bias?

Students will suffer

Apropos of K'taka students get a dual-lingo shot in arm (Dec 21). This decision is a mockery. Politicians want unaware citizens, and that will be useful during election time. Most students may be ready to accept the council's decision but their futures will be affected. What if students need to attempt examinations (in English) to go abroad?

S Chockalingam, Kottaram

Painstaking evaluation

Apropos of K'taka students get a dual-lingo shot in arm (Dec 21). This decision is confusing. If students are not proficient in English, let them answer in their mother tongues, keeping the technical terms intact. Expression is also a mark of the educated. But with this new initiative, students will become deficient in both languages, not to mention the cumbersome evaluation process.

Cannot postpone census

Apropos of Wait gets longer for India Census (Dec 21). There is no substitute for the population census. Right from the Registrar General and Census Commissioner of India to the level of census compiler, there are many who are part of the process. It will be a waste of funds if they are allowed to cool their heels without fixing a date for the next census.

Poor governance

Apropos of Country facing shortage of 864 IPS officers, minister tells Parliament (Dec 21). That there are a large number of vacant positions in IPS, IAS, IFS is cause for concern. Shortage affects governance at all levels. Availability of required staff is a hallmark of good governance.

Rahul's walk call puts Raj netas in fix

Congress cadre break out in sweat after his 'walk for 15km' counsel

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

CONGRESS leader Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Yatra has left Rajasthan, but not before leaving the state cadre in a fix. While the Rajasthan leaders were looking forward to a resolution of the Gehlot-Pilot tussle during Rahul's visit, what happened instead was unexpected. Rahul asked all Congress ministers to walk 15km a day at least once a month to connect with the public.

During the Yatra, many people had complained about the inaccessibility of the leaders. Taking a note of such complaints and in a bid to prevent damage to the party ahead of the polls next year, Rahul, in a press conference in Jaipur, asked party leaders to walk daily so that a direct message could be sent to the public. The next day, state Congress president Govind Singh Dotasra, in the presence of Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot, said declared this suggestion mandatory, saying that any leader who disobeys this order will not be given a party ticket.

"If someone wants to be an MLA, they need to walk 15km once a month amid the people of the area," Dotasra said. The decision will make it difficult for leaders who are elderly, unwell or unused to walking. About one-third of the 108 Congress MLAs are said to be facing at least one of these issues. Among the ministers who are over 70 years old are Shanti Dhariwal, Hemaram Choudhary, Sukhram Vishnoi and BD Kalla. Gehlot is 71 years old, while Assembly speaker CP Joshi is 72.

Some in the party feel that this is a means to break the ego of the leaders who do not meet the public, or exclude senior leaders from race for tickets.

However, some MLAs said this suggestion was given the shape of a decree by the leaders only to improve their image in the eyes of Rahul Gandhi. Many are asking why a vehicle cannot be used to connect with the public. The announcement also promoted the BJP to take jibes at the Congress.

Gulab Chand Kataria, the leader of Opposition, said, "To solve people's problems, there is a need to communicate directly with them.

It's battle of ideologies, says Rahul in Hry

PERSISTING with his ideological posturing against the BJP, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Wednesday said while one ideology gives benefits to a select few, another is the voice of the people, farmers and labourers.

Rahul's Bharat Jodo Yatra crossed into Haryana from Rajasthan on Wednesday morning. The Congress leader said inflation and unemployment are the biggest issues affecting the country.

Rahul said the fight between the two ideologies "has been going on for thousands of years." On BJP leaders' questioning the need for him to take up the Kanyakumari-Kashmir yatra, he said he was "opening a shop of love in the market of hate" through the yatra.

The yatra was welcomed by ex-CM Bhupinder Singh Hooda, senior leader Randeep Singh Surjewala and Deepender Singh Hooda.

HCs must conduct criminal proceedings consciously: SC

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

SENDING a note of caution to high courts while exercising their power related to the quashing of criminal complaints laid down under Section 482 CrPC, the Supreme Court of India has reiterated that such powers should be used consciously, sparingly and only for preventing abuse of the process of court or to secure ends of justice.

The court observation came in a plea challenging the Telangana HC order refusing to quash criminal proceedings instituted against R Nagendra Yadav for allegedly forging signature on a sale deed. The HC said that there was a prima facie case against the appellant for being put to trial for the alleged offence.

"While exercising its jurisdiction under Section 482 of the CrPC, a high court has to be conscious that this power is to be exercised sparingly. Whether a complaint discloses a criminal offence or not depends on the nature of the alleged act. Whether the essential ingredients of a criminal offence are present or not has to be judged by the high court," a bench of Justices S Abdul Nazeer and J B Pardiwala said.

While allowing the appeal, the court said, "A complaint disclosing civil transaction may also have a criminal texture. But the HC must see whether the dispute which is in the substance of a civil nature is given a cloak of a criminal offence. In such a situation, if a civil remedy is available and is adopted, as has happened in the case on hand, the HC should have quashed the criminal proceeding to prevent abuse of the process of the court."

The court observation came in a plea filed against Allahabad HCs order of refusing to appoint the applicant for the post of Health Worker (female).

Govt drags feet on misleading health ads under ayush products

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE Union Ministry of Ayush has taken contradictory stands inside and outside Parliament on action taken against companies publishing misleading advertisements.

While Ayush Minister Sarbananda Sonowal in Parliament has said that they have issued directives to the states and union territories to take action against firms publishing misleading advertisements of Ayush products, claiming cures for diseases like diabetes, in an RTI reply, they cited a court case for not taking action.

The minister denied in Parliament that no action had been taken against some companies publishing misleading advertisements of AYUSH products contravening the Drugs and Cosmetics Act, 1940 and Drugs and Magic Remedies (Objectionable Advertisements) Act, 1954.

It is not the first time the minister has reiterated his position. In Parliament on March 22, he also said that the protocol or guidelines are in force to restrict Ayush products of medicinal use with dubious claims and for selling certain medicines under supervision.

But to a Right to Information (RTI) question to Kannur-based ophthalmologist Dr K V Babu against dubious and misleading advertisements by Baba Ramdev's Haridwar-based Patanjali Ayurved, the Ayush ministry agreed with the Uttarakhand licensing authority, which had said the matter is sub-judice and pending before the Mumbai High Court. "The reply in Parliament is inconsistent with the RTI response from the Ministry of Ayush," Dr Babu, who has also written to the minister over this contradictory stand, told this newspaper.

Profits from drug biz being used for terrorism, says Shah

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah on Wednesday stressed on the government's zero tolerance policy towards drugs trafficking, and said profits from the narcotics trade were being used to finance terrorism.

"The presence of this dirty money also gradually hollows our economy," Shah said in the Lok Sabha. "Drug menace is a serious problem which is destroying generations. Profits from the drug business are utilised for terrorism," he said.

Referring to the seizure of drugs at Gujarat's Mundra port, the home minister said drugs are seized at ports due to our surveillance systems. "Just because a state has great recoveries, it doesn't mean that drug abuse is rampant there," he said, adding that the states that don't help central agencies are helping drug traffickers.

"The NIA has been empowered by Parliament to carry out investigations along with NCB into drug trafficking. Drugs are coming from Gulf countries, and arrests have been made of people involved in it. Raids were also conducted in 12 states in connection with the issue," Shah said.

While the home minister was speaking about the drugs issue, Congress MP Gaurav Gogoi mentioned the Pegasus spyware scam, which rocked Parliament in 2021, leading to a sharp exchange between the two leaders.

Gogoi inquired about the surveillance mechanism put in place on land and sea borders, and international airports to check the entry of contraband into the country. He also accused the government of using Pegasus spyware to snoop on journalists and politicians.

"How are you using intelligence and surveillance? You snoop on us, tap our phones with Pegasus," Gogoi said. "Through Pegasus, how many drug mafia have you caught," he asked. Taking exception to Gogoi's charges, Shah said the Congress MP was making baseless politically-motivated allegations, and demanded proof for his allegations.

"He has made some serious allegations that his phone was tapped through Pegasus. Give proof, you cannot just say such things. Give House the proof. This House is for serious discussion, not for baseless politically-motivated allegations," Shah said. In July last year, a global media consortium made the disclosure that thousands of prominent personalities from India and elsewhere were potentially targeted by Pegasus, owned by Israeli'sNSO Group.

STATES DIRECTED TO FREE PRISONERS

Union Minister of State for Home Affairs Ajay Kumar Mishra informed the Rajya Sabha on Wednesday that the Centre has directed the state governments to release prisoners who are still behind bars because of non-payment of fines, though they have completed their jail terms. In a written reply to a question, the minister told the House that the government has created a special scheme under which the states have been directed to ensure the release of such prisoners who are behind bars due to non-payment of fines, the minister said. The Union Minister of State said the Ministry of Home Affairs recently provided ₹100 crore for strengthening the E-prisons portal.

OVER 3.77 LAKH RECRUITED IN 5 YEARS

The government has ensured the recruitment of more than 3.77 lakh candidates for Central government departments through UPSC, Staff Selection Commission (SSC) and Railway Recruitment Board (RRBs) in the last five years. This was informed by Union minister Jitendra Singh on Wednesday in the Parliament, adding that the Central government has issued instructions to all ministries and departments for the timely filling up of vacant posts. "The total number of candidates selected by UPSC, SSC and RRBs for appointment during the last five years are 3,77,802," he said, adding the examinations were conducted smoothly. "However, in a few cases, the process of recruitment has been hampered by litigations," he said.

'GLOBAL HUNGER INDEX NOT TRUE PICTURE'

Child Development Minister Smriti Irani told the Rajya Sabha that the Global Hunger Index (GHI), which ranked India 107th among 121 countries in 2022, does not reflect the country's true picture. In a written reply, she said the report is neither appropriate nor representative of the hunger prevalent in the country. She termed the report flawed as out of the four indicators taken into account for the GHI, only one -- undernourishment -- is directly related to hunger. In response to a question on undernourishment-related deaths in children, Irani said malnutrition is not a direct cause of death among children under five, but it can increase morbidity and mortality.

Health workers in dark about use of designer drugs: ICMR

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

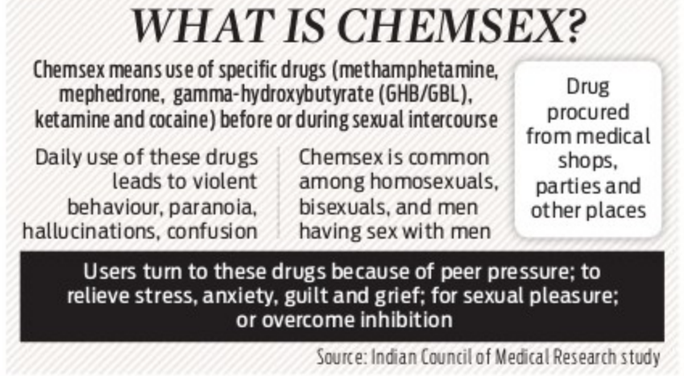
COMMUNITY health workers counselling men having sex with men, transgenders and commercial sex workers were not only unaware but were unable to identify designer drugs commonly used by this population as a source of enhancing sexual pleasure, as per a study conducted by Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR).

The study showed that these community health mobilisers (CHM) working with NGOS and belonging to these community only also had poor knowledge about diseases caused by high-risk sexual behaviours such as sexually transmitted infections and other health and psychological illness associated with the daily usuage of not only designer drugs but also of sexualised substance use (SSU).

They also did not know the impact of these substances in spreading HIV or about prophylactic medications to prevent getting HIV/AIDS.

The study by HIV Alliance, an NGO, conducted by ICMR, in five states found that these community health workers were also unaware how these drug users – in the age group of 16 to 40 years – were procuring these designer drugs and SSU.

"We found that there was lack of awareness about various drugs used for chemsex – using drugs as part of your sex life – like ketamine, erectile dysfunction drugs etc. and now designer drugs," said Dr Sumit Aggarwal, Scientist and Program Officer at ICMR, one of the authors of the study.



WHAT IS CHEMSEX?
Chemsex means use of specific drugs (methamphetamine, mephedrone, gamma-hydroxybutyrate (GHB/GBL), ketamine and cocaine) before or during sexual intercourse
Daily use of these drugs leads to violent behaviour, paranoia, hallucinations, confusion
Chemsex is common among homosexuals, bisexuals, and men having sex with men
Drug procured from medical shops, parties and other places
Users turn to these drugs because of peer pressure; to relieve stress, anxiety, guilt and grief; for sexual pleasure; or overcome inhibition
Source: Indian Council of Medical Research study

He said these CHMs were also not aware of the complex health issues associated with SSU, as its daily use leads to violent behaviour, paranoia, hallucinations, confusion.

"Drug users combine two-three drugs not only to get high but to increase their sexual capacity," Dr Aggarwal told this newspaper. He added that erectile dysfunction drugs, ketamine, and gamma-butyrolactone (GBL) are commonly used during chemsex.

It was found that there was a lack of knowledge among CHMs – working in community-led developmental programmes in Punjab, Gujarat, West Bengal, Delhi and Hyderabad - about online sources for SSU.

Chemsex is considered a subset of SSU, commonly defined as the use of specific drugs (methamphetamine, mephedrone, gamma-hydroxybutyrate (GHB/GBL), ketamine and cocaine) before or during sexual intercourse, said the study.

Dr Aggarwal said many drug users – who procured these drugs from medical shops and other places, including at sex parties -turned to SSU because of peer pressure.

Many also took it to relieve stress, anxiety, and grief, for sexual pleasure, to counteract any guilt, to increase the emotional bond with sex partners, or even to overcome a lack of confidence and even to overcome inhibition for sex work.

> We found that there was lack of awareness about various drugs used for chemsex – using drugs as part of your sex life – like ketamine, erectile dysfunction drugs and now designer drugs
> Dr Sumit Aggarwal, ICMR

The study, published in Brain Sciences, an international, peer-reviewed, open-access journal on neuroscience, was conducted with the aim to assess the knowledge gaps regarding SSU among CHMs. For that, in-depth interviews were conducted with 19 CHMs, the majority being men, followed by transgender.

They were also assessed for their knowledge of HIV, infection prevention, and complex health issues associated with SSU. It has been found that chemsex is common among homosexuals, bisexuals, and MSM, who frequently engage in SSU/chemsex because they believe that psychoactive chemicals may boost arousal and stamina, enabling prolonged sex sessions with one or multiple partners.

Additionally, SSU is also known to have a role in survival sex practices, which includes the selling of sex for subsistence needs such as shelter, food, drugs, or money.

Govt blocking debate on China, weakening judiciary, says Sonia

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

FORMER Congress president Sonia Gandhi on Wednesday tore into the BJP government for its refusal to allow a debate in Parliament on the border situation, adding that the Centre's failure to address security concerns is worrisome.

Speaking to party MPs in the Central Hall of Parliament, Sonia said that while blocking debates, the BJP is also actively engaged in targeting the Opposition and any questioning voices, manipulating the media and undermining the institutions that stand in its way.

"The continuing incursions by China on our border are a matter of serious concern. The whole nation stands with our vigilant soldiers who repelled these attacks under difficult conditions. The government, however, stubbornly refuses to allow a discussion on the issue in Parliament," she said, asking: "Why is China emboldened to continually attack us? What preparations have been made to repel these attacks, and what more needs to be done? What is the government's policy to deter China from future incursions?"

Coming down heavily on the government's China policy, she pointed out that the country is importing more from China than it exports. "Given that we continue to have a severe trade deficit with China, importing far more than we export, why is there no economic response to China's military hostility? What is the government's diplomatic outreach to the global community?' She asked.

Sonia also slammed the Narendra Modi government for what she termed attempts to 'delegitimise' the judiciary. "Ministers have been enlisted to making speeches attacking the judiciary on various grounds," she said.

UP madrasa board mulls PG, UG deg upgrade

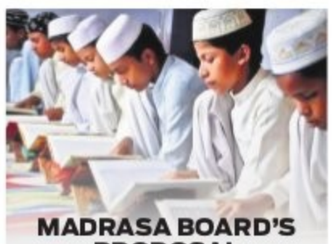
Uniform dress code, shifting closure to Sunday from Friday are among proposals

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

AFTER the UP government ordered a survey of madrasas to ascertain their status, funding and infrastructure facilities being provided to students, the UP Madrasa Education Board (UPMEB) is contemplating a slew of proposals to spruce up the education system of Islamic institutions.

The UPMEB is considering the affiliation of postgraduate (Kaamil) and graduate (Faazil) courses of madrasas either to a state university or upgrading the degrees to a deemed university status to ensure wider recognition of the courses. Currently, UPMEB issues the postgraduate and graduate degrees of madrasas.

"The degrees which we issue to our students pursuing Kaamil and Faazil courses don't have much acceptance outside this education system. So, we are now looking at upgrading the degrees either through affiliation with a state university or by getting the status of a deemed university. This will lend more meaning and wider acceptance to our degrees," said UPMEB chairman Dr Iftekhar Ahmad Javed. The proposal is significant as it comes after the controversial survey in which about 8,500 madrasas were found unrecognised.



MADRASA BOARD'S PROPOSAL
- Weekly closure to move from Friday to Sunday
- Uniform for all students
- Affiliation to state university or get a deemed university status

Official sources said the proposal was a part of the initiative to provide wider acceptance to degrees of students affiliated with the State Madrasa Board.

The Madrasa Board is also contemplating a code for uniforms for the madrasa students and providing madrasas an option of shifting the closure to Sundays from Friday. Currently, the madrasas observe weekly closure on Fridays.

Former mantri Chinmayanand gets relief in 2011 rape case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

IN a relief to former Union Minister Swami Chinmayanand, the Allahabad High Court granted him interim anticipatory bail. Chinmayanand is accused of raping a law student from Shahjahanpur, Uttar Pradesh in 2011. While the single judge bench of Justice Samit Gopal granted the interim anticipatory bail to the former union minister of state for home on Tuesday, the order was uploaded on Wednesday.

Justice Gopal noted that the matter required consideration while observing that, "Till the next date of listing of the case, in the event of arrest of the applicant, Swami Chinmayanand Saraswati, involved in the aforesaid case shall be released on interim anticipatory bail on furnishing a personal bond of ₹1lakh with two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court."

The Court also ordered the victim and the state government to file a reply within four weeks. He posted the matter for next hearing on February 6, 2023. Counsel for the applicant argued that through an order dated July 16, 2012 passed by a division bench of the HC, Chinmayanand was granted protection from arrest during the pendency of the investigation.

Christian tribals come under attack, flee Bastar villages

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

CHRISTIAN tribals belonging to some of the districts in Bastar zone in south Chhattisgarh, where the influence of the outlawed CPI (Maoist) has reportedly declined, are being increasingly targeted by local miscreants allegedly tied to Hindutva ideology, police sources said.

The attacks have forced hundreds of adivasis Christians to flee from their native villages in the tribal-dominated Narayanpur district, about 350 km south of Raipur.

The Chhattisgarh Christian Forum on Wednesday submitted a memorandum to Governor Anusuiya Uikey narrating the ordeal faced by the tribals.

They have also complained about the lack of support from the district/police administration.The Forum says the tribals' homes and properties have been vandalised specifically owing to their faith by some groups owing allegiance to rightwing outfits.

In the absence of tough administrative action, the tribals have fled their habitats in Narayanpur.

"The attacks on Christians are also being reported from districts of Kondagaon, Bijapur, Dilmili (Jagdalpur) besides Narayanpur over the last few months in the Bastar zone. It's a covert campaign against the minority. They are not being allowed to practise their religion," alleged Arun Pannalal, president of Chhattisgarh Christian Forum.

The attacks on Christians are being reported from various districts. It's a covert campaign against the minority. They are not being allowed to practise their religion
Arun Pannalal, CCF president

"We have taken appropriate action whenever such incidents have come to our notice", said Sundarraj, IG (Bastar zone).

Many victims of such attacks staged a protest outside the Narayanpur district collectorate demanding the registration of a case against those behind the violence.

Officials said the situation is serious in many areas. "In recent months, such confrontations have been frequent. One of the reasons is annoyance seen among a segment of tribal community that believes that the adivasis who converted are destroying their religious rituals and practices," said a local official familiar with the development.

Many villagers who fled are now kept in different locations and community halls in Narayanpur.

The district administration is providing them food and other amenities.

Dustbins in cars coming to U'khand must: HC

The next time you come to Uttarakhand, you will have to bring a dustbin in your car. It may sound strange, but for pollution control and environmental protection, the Nainital High Court on Tuesday passed a crucial order banning plastic waste in the state. A bench headed by Chief Justice Vipin Sanghi directed that portable dustbins to be installed in tourist and passenger vehicles coming in the state. The court said the state government will have to ensure strict compliance of the order. The court issued the order during the hearing of a PIL filed by Almora resident Jitendra Yadav.

Doon-Tehri tunnel to reduce congestion

The Uttarakhand government has given the green signal for the construction of tunnel from Dehradun to Tehri to facilitate tourism and reduce traffic. A 35-km-long tunnel will be opened in Koti Colony area near the lake. Tehri Lake is about 80 km from the Ranipokhari area from where the construction of the tunnel will start. It takes more than two hours to reach Tehri Lake currenty. After the construction of the tunnel, this distance can be completed within one hour. The National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) is working on a mega plan that will give a new dimension to Tehri lake. The original tunnel length will be 27 to 28 km.

New SIC officer appointed

The newly appointed State Information Commissioner Yogesh Bhatt was administered the oath of office and secrecy by Governor Lt Gen Gurmeet Singh. Bhatt was introduced by Chief Information Commissioner Anil Chandra Punetha on the occasion. Bhatt is a senior journalist and has also played an important role in the movement for Uttarakhand statehood. Information Commissioner of the Commission Vivek Sharma, Vipin Chandra, Arjun Singh were present on the occasion. CIC Punetha said that a total of 3,960 hearings were conducted by the Commission from January to November 2022, out of which a total of 2,631 claims were settled. A fine of about Rs 5 lakh was also in 43 cases while punishing the guilty PIOs.

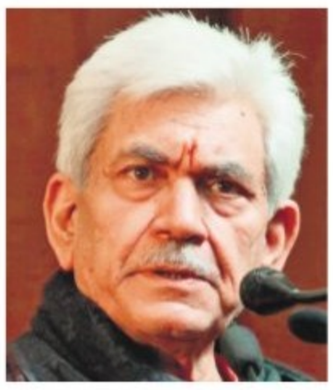
No salary to those sitting at home: J&K L-G's clear message to Pandit staffers

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE protesting Pandit employees recruited under the PM's job package in Jammu and Kashmir will not get salaries unless they resume duty, Lt Governor Manoj Sinha said on Wednesday.

The employees have been on strike since May 12 to press for their demand of relocation to Jammu. Responding to Sinha's remark, the Pandit employees said salary at the cost of their lives is not acceptable to them. "They (PM's package employees) had met me after the killing of a Pandit staffer and wanted some breathing period," Sinha told the media in Jammu. "We released their salary till August. However, this cannot happen that salaries will be provided to those sitting at home," Sinha said.

"It is a clear and loud message," he stressed, adding that the government is ready to provide them security or any other assistance, and a committee has been formed to look into their demand. About 5,500 Pandit employees have not resumed duty since the killing of Rahul Bhat by militants on May 12 at the Tehsildar's office in central Kashmir. They are demanding relocation to Jammu in view of continued targeted killings in the Valley. Explaining that employees of Kashmir division cannot be transferred to Jammu, Sinha said almost all Pandit employees have been deployed at district headquarters, while some are posted at tehsil headquarters. "Some of those working for rural development have been posted in areas near the city," he said.



'It's a pressure tactic to force us to return'
About 5,500 Pandit employees have not resumed duty since the killing of Rahul Bhat by militants on May 12. Ranjan Jotshi, vice president, All Migrant Displaced Employees Association Kashmir, said, "It is a pressure tactic to force us to return to the Valley. We will not go back and reiterate our demand for temp-orary relocation to Jammu till the situation improves in Kashmir."

The government has also assured the minority community members that they won't be deployed alone but in groups of two or more, Sinha said. After Sinha's statement, the Pandit employees staged a protest outside the Press Club in Jammu. Terming the statement "unfortunate and insensitive," Ranjan Jotshi, vice president, All Migrant Displaced Employees Association Kashmir, said, "Instead of addressing our concerns, he talks about salaries."

He added: "It is a pressure tactic to force us to return to the Valley. We will not go back and reiterate our demand for temporary relocation to Jammu till the situation improves in Kashmir." Jotshi said.

MANIPUR

8 girl students killed as bus overturns

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

AT least eight girl students died and over 20 others were injured when a bus they were traveling in overturned in Manipur's Noney district in Imphal on Wednesday. Five girls died on the spot, two succumbed to their injuries on the way to the hospital, while one more student died at a hospital. The injured were admitted to the Regional Institute of Medical Sciences and a private hospital in Imphal. The condition of others is stated to be critical.

The students of the Thambal Marik Higher Secondary School in Yairipok were on a study tour to Khoupum. The state's education department has directed all schools not to organise excursions till January 10 to avoid similar incidents in the foggy conditions. CM N Biren Singh tweeted, "Deeply saddened to hear about the accident. SDRF, Medical team and MLAs have rushed to the site to coordinate the rescue operation. Praying for the safety of everyone in the bus."

Ankita murder case: SIT identifies 'VIP' guest in 500-page chargesheet

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

THE Uttarakhand Police's Special Investigating Team claims to have reached the "VIP" for whom Ankita Bhandari, a receptionist at Vantra Resort, was pressured to provide "special services." The body of 19-year-old Ankita was recovered from Chilla canal in Rishikesh on September 24. Her sudden disappearance and murder led to strong reactions across the country.

She worked as a receptionist at a resort run by Pulkit Arya, the son of expelled BJP leader Vinod Arya. Ankita was reported missing for at least six days before the officials found her body.

Three accused, including Pulkit Arya, are in jail.

While the police have refused to name the VIP, sources said the 500-page chargesheet filed by the police in a court in Kotdwar has revealed how the investigators got in touch with the "VIP guest." Sources said the "guest" belongs to western Uttar Pradesh.

Sources said the guest's statement has been recorded in three pages in the SIT's chargesheet, which also reveals suspicious activities going on at the resort.

The SIT questioned around 50 people staying at the resort during the investigation. Ankita had told her friend Pushpa that a guest at the resort had hugged her a week ago.

According to sources, the guest has told the SIT that Pulkit charged an additional amount of at least ₹10,000 for "special services."

The police have named 97 witnesses in the chargesheet. Of these, 35 are employees of the resort and the people staying here.

ED reveals modus operandi of liquor kickbacks to AAP

SHAHID FARIDI @ New Delhi

THE Enforcement Directorate claims to have uncovered a deep nexus between Telangana Chief Minister K Chandrashekar Rao's daughter K Kavitha and Aam Aadmi Party leaders who used proxies to exchange favours and large kickbacks in the Delhi liquor policy.

Investigation under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, it alleged, revealed a large number of tightly-controlled cartels, including manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers. "Each cartel consists of a huge number of entities and persons, including proxy owners, sleeping partners, hidden investments, etc..." into which investigations are continuing, its chargesheet said.

According to the ED, Kavitha is part of a retailer-wholesaler-manufacturer cartel that earned windfall gains. It cornered bulk of the profits from the Delhi liquor business by controlling nine out of 32 retail zones and key wholesale licences, and paid huge kickbacks to AAP leaders, the ED claimed.

The agency alleged that AAP pointsperson Vijay Nair, who operated from Delhi CM Arvind Kejriwal's camp office, was a key dealmaker. He was tasked with generating and collecting kickbacks running into hundreds of crores of rupees, it said.

The ED said Nair influenced big liquor manufacturers such as Pernod Ricard to give their dealership to the wholesalers chosen by him. This created huge business for these wholesalers, who were then asked to part with half of their 12% profit margin as kickbacks.

Indo Spirit Distribution Ltd owner Sameer Mahendru, who was one of the chosen wholesalers of Nair, was the biggest beneficiary of the new excise policy. Nair also coerced wholesalers who were not part of his cartel to surrender their licenses, the ED said..

Citing huge financial burden, Maha govt rules out old pension scheme

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis stated on Wednesday that the government will not bring back the old pensions scheme in Maharashtra. He said that if the old pension scheme is implemented, then it will put the additional burden of ₹1.10 lakh crore over Maharashtra state exchequer.

He was responding to a question in the state Assembly winter session in Nagpur mentioning that the pension scheme was discontinued in 2005. The Congress ruled states Rajasthan and Himachal Pradesh government had earlier announced the old pension scheme. "As per MVA calculations, it will put additional ₹1.10 lakh crore burden over state exchequer. Therefore, we are not in condition to bring back old pensions scheme," Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis said.

Fadnavis said that therefore the government has also decided not to approve any new government aided schools in Maharashtra.

'Health dept on Covid alert, ready to contain virus'
Amid Covid-19 surge in China, Maharashtra health minister Tanaji Sawant said that thermal testing of all passengers who are coming from China and other countries will begin again. "There is no need to be afraid. We are focusing on tracing, testing, tracking and treatment. if necessary, measures will be taken to contain the spread of the virus," Tanaji Sawant said.

"When we gave deadline to giving approval to the new government aided schools that time, the total proposals were 350 schools. But that numbers later increased up to 3,900. We want to look after the teachers but there is a limit also that we have to understand," Deputy CM added.

Maharashtra Congress president Nana Patole reiterated implementations of old pension schemes.he had earlier written to Maharashtra CM Uddhav Thackeray demanding resumption of the old pension scheme.

"The state employees do not want the self- contributory pension scheme as returns work out much lesser than the old scheme. If the Congress ruled state can implement the old pension scheme, then why not the Maharashtra government? Government employees should be given financial security in post-retirement," Patole said.

Showcause notice to 7 Cong leaders demanding J'khand chief's removal

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

CONGRESS has issued showcause notices to seven of its leaders in Jharkhand, for violating the party discipline and demanding removal of state president Rajesh Thakur.

These leaders include Alok Dubey, Dr Rajesh Gupta, Sadhu Charan Gope, Rakesh Tiwari, Sunil Singh, Lal Kishore Nath Shahdeo and Anil Ojha.

The seven leaders had organized a meeting and demanded removal of state Congress president Rajesh Thakur, alleging him of working under the influence of former Jharkhand Congress in-charge RPN Singh, who has joined Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP).

"The disciplinary committee has also recommended the state president for suspension of all these leaders involved in the campaign," said state Congress spokesperson Rakesh Sinha.

They have been asked to submit their clarification within two weeks to the state Congress office.

According to Sinha, during the disciplinary committee meeting, the Congress leaders and workers were also given strict warning that those violating the party discipline will not be spared.

The rebel leaders, however, denied of having received any such showcause notices and charged disciplinary committee of working under the influence of Rajesh Thakur.

They also reiterated that they will continue with whatever programme was decided at the Monday meeting and 'Jan Jagaran Abhiyan' will be launched from Bokaro on its schedule time.

Nepal top court orders release of French serial killer Charles Sobhraj

KATHMANDU

NEPAL'S top court ordered on Wednesday the release and deportation of Charles Sobhraj, the French serial killer portrayed in the Netflix series The Serpent who was responsible for a string of murders across Asia in the 1970s.

The Supreme Court ruled Sobhraj, 78, who has been in prison in the Himalayan republic since 2003 for murdering two North American tourists, should be freed on health grounds.

"Keeping him in the prison continuously is not in line with the prisoner's human rights," read a copy of the verdict seen by AFP.

"If there is not any other pending cases against him to keep him in the prison, this court orders his release by today and... the return to his country within 15 days."

Sobhraj needed open heart surgery and his release was in keeping with the law allowing the compassionate discharge of bedridden prisoners who had already served three-quarters of their sentence, the verdict added. The notorious murderer underwent a five-hour cardiac operation in 2017 and the verdict said he remained in regular treatment for heart disease.

Sobhraj will likely be freed from Kathmandu's Central Jail on Thursday, an official at the prison told AFP.

He will first have to appear in a lower court for administrative formalities before he can walk free, the official added.

After a troubled childhood and several prison terms in France for petty crimes, Sobhraj began travelling the world in the early 1970s and wound up in the Thai capital Bangkok.

His modus operandi was to charm and befriend his victims — many of them starry-eyed Western backpackers on a quest for spirituality — before drugging, robbing and murdering them. Suave and sophisticated, he was implicated in his first murder, that of a young American woman whose body was found on a beach in Pattaya wearing a bikini, in 1975. He was eventually linked to more than 20 killings.

His victims were strangled, beaten or burned, and he often used the passports of his male victims to travel to his next destination. Sobhraj's sobriquet, The Serpent, came from his ability to assume other identities in order to evade justice. It became the title of a hit series made by the BBC and Netflix that was based on his life.

Govt will not go for additional borrowing: FM

Sticking to her earlier stand, she says there is enough tax buoyancy to fund additional demand for grants

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

FINANCE Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Wednesday said the government is not going for additional borrowing to fund additional demand for grant of ₹3.25 lakh crore.

Responding to members' query in Rajya Sabha, the finance minister said the government in September itself had said it is not going to borrow more and that there is enough tax buoyancy to fund the additional demand for grants. "We announced the borrowing schedule for the second half of the year in September. We have not changed our borrowing plans. That means we are very clear that we are going to see that the revenue that we are generating is sufficient for this additional grant," she said. The government is likely to borrow ₹14.21 lakh crore during 2022-23.

To support her point, the minister added that in the first seven months of the current fiscal, the gross tax receipts have seen a growth of 18% over the previous year. "This is substantially higher than the budget growth estimate of 9% over the RE (revised estimate) of last year. So, there is enough buoyancy that gives me confidence that we will be able to fund this additional demand," she said.

She responded to many concerns and apprehensions raised about the economy. On the concern that private investments are not happening, the FM cited several examples to establish that private investment has begun to pick up. Non-food bank credits have been expanding at double-digit on a yearly basis since April 8, 2022, and has reached 17.9% on the week, she said. The FM pointed out how the government dealt with the twin balance sheet problem and as a result of those efforts gross NPAs have come down to six-year low of 5.9% in March .

"Corporate sector has been deleveraging as is evident in the declining core debt of private non-financial sector to 87.8% of the GDP in June 2022 from 97.4% in March 2016," she said.

Sitharaman further said together with this cleanup of twin balance sheet problem (banks with high stressed assets and over-leveraged corporate), the government is taking steps like National Monetisation Pipeline, Gati Shakti and PLI scheme – all of which are bringing back investors so manufacturing sector gains momentum.

Gross tax receipts grew 18% in 7 months: FM

Responding to members' query in Rajya Sabha, finance minister said the government in September had said it is not going to borrow more and that there is enough tax buoyancy to fund additional demand for grants. She said in the first seven months of current fiscal, gross tax receipts have seen a growth of 18% YoY

TORRENT GROUP HIGHEST BIDDER FOR RCAP

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

TORRENT GROUP emerged as the highest bidder with ₹8,640 crore bid for Reliance Capital in the e-auction held on Wednesday.

Hinduja Group was at a close number two. Oaktree and the consortium of Cosmea-Piramal didn't participate in the e-auction. However, sources said despite emerging as the highest bidder, Torrent Group may not still end up acquiring Reliance Capital assets. "Both Hinduja and Torrent are neck to neck. The NPV (net present value) of the resolution plan will decide the winner. CoC (Committee of creditors) will meet tomorrow and will consider the resolution plans of both Torrent and Hinduja," said a source close to the lenders.

Not all the bid amount is paid upfront and they come in tranches. Therefore, the CoC will decide at the successful bidder after arriving at the Net Present Value (NPV) of the future payments. The consortium of Cosmea and Piramal Group has pulled out of the bidding process citing significant changes in the contours of the process. The lenders of RCap last week increased the base price – which was earlier fixed at ₹5,231 crore – to ₹6,500 crore for e-auction to be held on Wednesday (December 21, 2022). It was feared that Oaktree would not participate in the e-auction after its demand for extension of the e-auction date was rejected by the CoC. RCap had received four binding bids on November 28, which was the last date for submitting the bids. The highest bid of ₹5,231 crore has been submitted by a consortium of Cosmea Financial and Piramal.

Crypto may trigger next financial crisis, says Shaktikanta Das

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

EXPRESSING concerns about the cryptocurrencies, Reserve Bank of India (RBI) Governor Shaktikanta Das on Wednesday said these virtual assets could cause next financial crisis and should be prohibited.

"Our view is it should be prohibited because if it is allowed to grow... the next financial crisis will come from private cryptocurrencies," said the Governor speaking at an event held in Mumbai. Highlighting the volatility and uncertainty in cryptocurrencies, he said the value of virtual currencies has come down to $140 billion and $40 billion was wiped out.

"Cryptocurrency has certain huge inherent risks for our macroeconomic and financial stability and we have been pointing it out for sometime. After looking at the latest episode of FTX. I don't think we need to say this anymore," he added.

He said private cryptos owe their origin to 'breaking the system' and they don't believe in the regulated financial world. Cryptocurrency has absolutely no underlying basis and there is also no clarity on what public good or purpose they serve, he said. About containing prices, the Governor said there is a coordination between the central government and the RBI to control inflation.

"I must say that to check inflation, there has been a very coordinated approach between the central bank and the central government," he added. He said the RBI actions included one on the rates, stance of the monetary policy and liquidity measures, while the government undertook several supply-side measures like cutting down taxes on petrol or diesel, reducing duties on imported food items.

The Governor underlined the advantages of Central Bank Digital Currency (CBDC) and termed it as the currency of future. "The world is becoming more and more digital in days to come, more and more central banks will embrace digital currency," he said. He said the Unified Payments Interface (UPI) involves intermediation of banks whereas CBDC is like currency notes with automatic sweep in and out facility.

"24 hours, you can draw CBDC. And if you are carrying excess CBDC, you can deposit it in the bank," Das said.

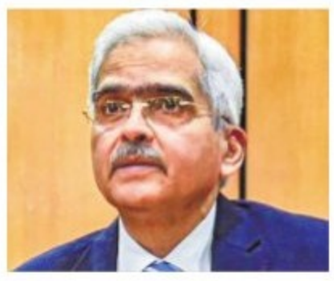
MPC Minutes: RBI Governor against pause in rate hike

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

WITH the economy still facing inflationary pressure, a premature pause in monetary policy action would be a costly policy error, said Reserve Bank of India (RBI) Governor Shaktikanta Das during the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) meeting.

Das was among the five MPC members that voted for a 35 basis points (bps) hike in repo rate. Jayant Verma had voted against a hike, showed the minutes of the meeting released on Wednesday.

"A premature pause in monetary policy action would be a costly policy error at this juncture. Given the uncertain outlook, it may engender a situation where we may find ourselves striving to do a catch-up through stronger policy actions in the subsequent meetings to ward-off accentuated inflationary pressures," said the Governor. "I, therefore, vote for an increase of 35 basis points in the repo rate – a departure from 50 bps on three previous occasions – which itself conveys the signal of an improvement in the inflation outlook," he added.



The MPC had hiked the repo rate, the rate at which the central bank lends short-term funds to banks, by 35 bps to fight inflation. Prior to the December hike in repo rate, the RBI had raised the repo rate by 190 bps in four tranches.

"Considering the prevailing policy repo rate, liquidity conditions and the expected trajectory of inflation over the next several months, it is essential to persist with the stance of withdrawal of accommodation," governor said.

The Governor said that successive rate actions since May 2022 are working through the system. Considering the elevated inflation levels, especially the stickiness in core inflation, further calibrated monetary policy action is warranted to contain build-up in underlying inflationary pressures, keep inflation expectations anchored, and bring inflation closer to the target rate of 4 percent over the medium term. "This would strengthen the medium-term growth prospects of the Indian economy," he said.

Of the total six MPC members, five had voted in favour of rate hike while Jayant Verma voted against it. The meeting was held during December 5-7.

Covid, recession fears hit mkt; Sensex falls 635 pts

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

OWING to sharp spread of fresh covid-19 cases in China and looming fears of a global recession, India's equity market took a beating on Wednesday with the BSE benchmark Sensex falling 1,068 points from day's high to a low of 60,938.

In the highly volatile session, the 30-share index closed the session at 61,067.24, down 635.05 points from previous day closing. The Sensex is now down about 2500 points from its 52-week high of 63,583, scaled on December 1, 2022. The broader NSE Nifty50 declined 186.20 points or 1.01% to end at 18,199.10. "Indian markets underperformed their Asian peers and came down crumbling on broad-based sell-off, mainly over concerns that recessionary fears in key major economies will have a spill-over effect on the local growth prospects going ahead. Investors are also worried that mounting Covid cases in China may lead to further deterioration in global economic health prompting traders to cut their equity market exposure," said Shrikant Chouhan, Head of Equity Research (Retail), Kotak Securities.

The detection of three cases of Omicron subvariant BF.7, the strain driving China's current surge of Covid cases, in India also said to have spooked investors and added to volatility. Siddhartha Khemka, Head - Retail Research, Motilal Oswal Financial Services, said that Covid-sensitive sectors such as pharma and diagnostics are in limelight and are expected to remain in momentum.

"On the other hand, sectors like travel and tourism, hotels, airlines, entertainment and retail sectors may witness some pressure. Given the concern over the resurgence of pandemic once again along with recessionary fear, we expect the market volatility to continue," added Khemka.

Global Smartphone mkt revenues fall 3% in Q3'22

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

THE global smartphone handset market's revenue declined by 3% year-on-year (YoY) to just above $100 billion in the third quarter of 2022, according to the latest research from Counterpoint's Market Monitor Service.

The research also noted that the revenue contribution of 5G handsets reached an all-time high of 80% of global handset revenues, up from 69% in the third quarter of last year. A 10% YoY growth was seen in average selling price (ASP), thanks to the premium handset segment's greater resilience to economic uncertainty. The record shipment contribution (46%) of 5G handsets, which cost five times an average non-5G handset, also added to the ASP and revenue growth. In terms of shipments, the overall handset market saw a 12% YoY decline during the quarter.

"At over $80 billion, the revenue contribution of 5G handsets reached an all-time high of 80% of global handset revenues, up from 69% in the third quarter of last year. In the same period, LTE handsets' revenue contribution fell 10% to $19 billion," said senior analyst Harmeet Singh Walia.

He added that this shift from 4G to 5G has been led by Apple, which alone makes up for over half of all 5G revenues as over 95% of its phones are 5G-enabled. Apple saw a 10% YoY revenue growth. "This is thanks in part to the launch of the iPhone 14 series as well as the Pro models, especially from the previous generation, doing well," said Walia.

Byju's denies buying students' phone numbers

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

A day after the National Commission for the Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR) claimed Byju's is allegedly buying phone numbers of children and their parents, the edtech company on Wednesday strongly refuted the allegation.

It said in a statement, "We do not need to and we never make cold calls or unscheduled walk-in visits."

On Tuesday, the NCPCR claimed the edtech firm is rigorously following parents and children and threatening them that their future will be ruined. "They (Byju's) are targeting first-generation learners. We will initiate action and if need be will make a report and write to the government," NCPCR chairperson Priyank Kanoongo told a news agency.

Byju's called it a "baseless and unsubstantiated allegation." The edtech company, which has over 150 million registered students, said, "We do not need to buy or use external databases. We emphasize that our lead pipeline comprises exclusively of our app users, walk-ins and incoming requests for consultation."

It added that the company is ranked No. 19 in the coveted Kantar list of India's most trusted brands. "We do not need to and we never make cold calls or unscheduled walk-in visits. We strongly refute any allegation that indicates otherwise," it said.

Last week, the commission asked the edtech firm's CEO Byju Raveendran to appear before it on December 23 over alleged malpractice of hard selling and mis-selling of courses for students. This is not the first time the edtech company is mired in a controversy.

Auto components industry grows 35% in H1FY23, import jumps 17%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

BACKED by robust demand for passenger vehicles (PVs), India's automotive component industry turnover grew by nearly 35% in the first half of financial year 2023 (H1FY23) to ₹2.65 lakh crore ($33.8 billion) as against ₹1.97 lakh crore ($26.6 billion) in the corresponding six month period of previous fiscal (H1FY22), Automotive Component Manufacturers Association of India (ACMA) said on Wednesday.

"In the first half, 47% of our revenue to the supply to the OEMs, which is $28.6 billion, came from passenger vehicles. Interestingly, in the first half of last fiscal, the PVs accounted for about 38% of our revenue from the OEM," said ACMA Director General Vinnie Mehta. There has been a demand shift towards SUVs, and the value proposition has also been enhanced, he added.

However, the two-wheeler industry was under pressure and it accounted for about 18% of the revenue against 21% in the first half of the last fiscal. Imports of auto components grew by 17.2% to $10.1 billion (Rs 79,815 crore) in H1FY23 from $8.7 billion (Rs 64,310 crore) in H1FY22. Asia, mainly China, accounted for 65% of imports, followed by Europe and North America, with 26% and 8%, respectively. Imports from Asia grew by 21% during the April-September FY2023 period.

Mehta said while the components industry closed the last fiscal with a trade surplus of $700 million, in the current fiscal, it has become neutral with exports and imports finely balanced. "The sharper growth in the import has been because of the uptick in the domestic market, very much correlated to growth in the domestic market for the OEM segment," he added.

On the export front, ACMA said it grew by 8.6% to $10.1 billion (Rs 79,033 crore) in H1FY23 from $9.3 billion (Rs 68,746 crore) in H1FY22.

PUBLIC NOTICE

I, V. VIJAYALAKSHMI, W/o Sri. V. Lakshminarayana, aged about 68 years, R/at No.258, 3rd Cross, 2nd Main, III Phase, J.P.Nagar, Bengaluru – 560 078, do hereby bring to the notice to the general public by this "PUBLIC NOTICE" as under:

1. I am one of the children out of seven children to my parents. I am being only girl child to the family, my parents and my brothers have taken care of me in the best possible way. In fact, with the proceeds given by my parents, myself and my brothers were doing business under the name and style of "M/s. Teju Constructions".
2. I am married to one Sri. V. Lakshminarayana on 01/06/1970. From out of our wedlock, I have two sons and one daughter viz., V. L. Bharath Raj, V.L. Sharath Raj and Smt.Tejavathi. Due to my efforts, I have given proper education to my children more particularly to my daughter who is a Doctor by profession.
3. My husband was working in various places including CPWD and ultimately expressed his interest to join the business done by me and my brothers. Accordingly, we floated a company by name M/s.Nirman Shelters (B) Private Limited, in which, my husband, my brothers and son are the promoting Directors. The capital for the said business was pooled in by me and my brothers, which business developed multi-fold and the said Company made huge amounts of profits. This resulted in accumulation of various properties.
4. When such being the case, just to usurp the entire property those were made with the hard effort of the family members, the said V. Lakshminarayan in the guise of tax planning obtained signatures of myself and my children on certain documents known as settlement deeds and got the same registered under which, the properties owned by us were sought to be settled in our names by making nasty and false allegations. As we never had any doubt in respect of the acts of V. Lakshminarayan and we blindly signed the same without reading the contents of the said documents. Subsequent to the same, the said V. Lakshminarayan started to change his behaviour entirely and by which time he is in a relationship with a office staff by name Smt. Sushma Murthy as his kept mistress and he is under full control of the said lady and another person by name Sri. Shashi S Patil and he started to act according to their dictum and started to distance himself from us. When said Sri.V.Lakshminarayan was aged about 70 years, (now aged 76) he has instituted proceedings before the Family Court for a decree of divorce seeking annulment of our marriage which is pending consideration before the Hon'ble Family Court in M.C. No.640/2016.
5. That apart, the said V. Lakshminarayan, who is worth several crores holding several immoveable properties has instituted proceedings before the Assistant Commissioner under Maintenance and Welfare of Senior Citizens Act in Misc (SC) CR No.2/2021-22 against one of our son Sri. V. L. Bharathraj by making false allegations against him and claiming that he is in rented house and sought to seek cancellation of documents stood in my son's name. After contest, the said proceedings came to be dismissed.
6. My daughter Dr. Tejavathi has now joined her father V. Lakshminarayan as she has been promised huge money and properties in her name by my husband. Accordingly, my daughter under the instigation of V. Lakshminarayan and his kept mistress Smt. Sushma Murthy, in the guise of taking care of my health, my daughter convinced me that keeping gold and diamonds worth several crores at house is bad and in the guise of keeping the same in the safe locker took over the same. When it was realised that my daughter Dr. Tejavanthi has stolen my jewellery, I have lodged a complaint against my daughter before the jurisdictional Police, which is registered as Crime No.200/2021. Similarly, my husband V. Lakshminarayan my daughter and their goons had tried to dispossess me from my house. With the help of my son I managed to retain the possession of my house and lodged a police complaint against all of them for their illegal acts before jurisdictional Police, who after investigation filed charge sheet against them in CC No.15978/2021.
7. As my husband and daughter could not achieve what they want, my daughter has filed a false suit against me in respect of my house property in OS No.6411/2021. Likewise, my daughter has filed a false suit against my son Sri. V.L. Bharathraj in OS No.2742/2021, which suits are pending consideration.
8. That apart, it is now within the knowledge of general public through various newspapers and electronic media that said V. Lakshminarayan is involved in various illegal acts, in which, he has usurped the Civic Amenity sites in the layouts formed by the said Company and sold the same to gullible purchasers and made huge money. With respect to the said illegal acts, various proceedings, criminal cases are pending before various authorities and all probability, the said CA site would be restored back to its original position and the gullible purchasers would lose the same and the said V. Lakshminarayan would be punished for such illegal acts as per law.
9. My husband Sri. V. Lakshminarayan has also running a Company by name M/s. Nava Nirman VLN Prabhuddhalaya and Ayurdham Private Limited, and has constructed and running old age home on civic amenity site. The entire management is now transferred illegally to his kept mistress Smt. Sushma Murthy name.
10. When Sri. V. Lakshminarayan and his kept mistress Smt. Sushma Murthy, my daughter Dr.Tejavanthi have realised that they cannot sustain all these any more, they are in the process of selling all the properties standing in the name of Sri. V. Lakshminarayan, close the Companies and old age home and flee the country. Myself and my sons have our rightful share in various properties currently standing in the name of Sri. V. Lakshminarayan. Hence, it is hereby notified to the general public from NOT TO entering into any kind of agreements/sale deeds in respect of any properties offered by said Sri. V. Lakshminarayan and part with monies. Despite this notice, if they were to indulge in such acts with said Sri. V. Lakshminarayan, they would be doing so at their own cost and risk.

Mbappe returns to training days after WC final loss

France star Kylian Mbappe returned to training with Paris Saint-Germain on Wednesday just three days after he ended up on the losing side despite scoring a hat-trick in the World Cup final. Although PSG players have been given 10 days off, Mbappe was pictured at PSG's training ground. "Kylian Mbappe returned to training on Wednesday," tweeted PSG.

SEEKING CLEAN SWEEP

Despite Rahul's injury concerns, India are hoping to finish the year on a high in second Test

India captain KL Rahul (L) during a practice session at the Sher-e-Bangla National Cricket Stadium in Dhaka on Wednesday | AFP

GOMESH S @ Chennai

WHEN the 2022-23 World Test Championship FTP was announced, there was a sense of excitement as there was a possibility of India playing Pakistan in a Test match for the first time in more than a decade. That too in the WTC final. But as things stand at this point, Pakistan's fate are not in their hands and ranked No. 7, they do not have a realistic chance. India, however, are marching on towards their second WTC final with one Test win at a time.

And their next challenge will be in Mirpur against Bangladesh starting Thursday. Make no mistake, India are almost invincible in subcontinental conditions and the hosts will have to pull off a miracle to finish on the right side of the result. That said, India have their own challenges and issues to address.

For starters, the stand-in skipper KL Rahul, who is originally Rohit Sharma's deputy, suffered a hand injury in the nets whilst facing throwdowns from batting coach Vikram Rathour on the eve of the match. However, Rathour said it did not look serious. "He seems to be fine," Rathour said in the pre-match press conference on Wednesday. "Hopefully he'll be okay. The doctors are looking at it, but hopefully he'll be okay."

That said, should Rahul miss out due to injury, Cheteshwar Pujara, who was named as vice-captain to Rahul, will become the fifth player to lead India in a Test match this year after Virat Kohli, Rahul, Rohit and Jasprit Bumrah. Abhimanyu Easwaran, who flew in as a replacement for Rohit, will take Rahul's place in the XI.

Apart from the injury, the lack of runs from Rahul and Virat Kohli, the other experienced campaigner in the team, are a bit of concern. While Kohli averages 30 in this format this year, Rahul's drops down to 20.83. Both have just one half-century to show in 2022. Kohli's last Test hundred came against the same opponent in November 2019 while Rahul scored one in December 2021. But, the team management is not worried. "I'm not going to get into those discussions, these discussions keep happening, a few things he was looking at and there's nothing to be concerned about. He was just working on something. We are looking forward to both of them scoring runs. Hoping to see big innings from both of them from this match," said Rathour having had a long session with both the batters on Wednesday.

While the top-order will be challenged in Mirpur, especially with the return of Taskin Ahmed in the XI, the tourists will be confident of their middle-order stepping up in these conditions. With Rishabh Pant and Shreyas Iyer stepping up in every chance they get, the competition for a slot in the middle only grows. That they have R Aswhin, Axar Patel and Kuldeep Yadav to follow adds depth to the batting as well. In the bowling department, it is expected to be another spin-fest. However, Umesh Yadav and Mohammed Siraj's contributions should not go unnoticed as they have been setting up the game for the spin trio to follow.

India know they can't take any opponent lightly. That is not how they have built the reputation of being the team to beat in the subcontinent. And they will be tested in the second Test too.

Talking points

AS INDIA SEEK ANOTHER WIN TO KEEP THEIR WORLD TEST CHAMPIONSHIP FINAL HOPES ALIVE, SOME POINTS TO PONDER AHEAD OF THE SECOND TEST AGAINST BANGLADESH...

EYES ON KULDEEP

Playing his first Test since March 2021, Kuldeep Yadav stepped up and stole the show with a player of the match performance in the opening Test. However, with the spin resources India have, that performance does not assure him of a place in the XI. The focus will be on left-arm wrist spinner to see if he can show consistency through the series.

RETURN OF TASKIN

The prodigal pacer is back in the mix after missing the first Test and he will be replacing Ebadot Hossain who is out with a back injury. On the ground where India struggled against pace in the ODIs, Taskin will be keen to make an impact early on with the new ball.

CAN KOHLI STEP UP?

It will be his last match of the year. And if KL Rahul is out with injury, Virat Kohli will have more responsibility on his shoulders to take the team through. The second half of 2022 has been kind to the former skipper. Can he finish on a high?

Hockey India on alert after BF.7 Covid variant detected in Odisha

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

DETECTION of cases of Omicron subvariant BF.7 in India including the one in Odisha has put Hockey India (HI) on high alert. The FIH Odisha Hockey Men's World Cup 2023 is scheduled to kick off on January 13 and the latest development has forced the HI office-bearers to reassess their preparations with the inaugural match less than a fortnight ago.

"It (detection of cases) happened today only. We (HI office-bearers) spoke about it today and will meet again soon. I can say that the World Cup will be organised following all the precautionary measures and protocols issued by the central and Odisha governments," Bhola Nath Singh, HI secretary-general, told this daily. The fresh cases in the country meant the union government held a Covid review meeting on Wednesday. The government has also advised people to get vaccinated and mask-up. It also emphasised that random sample testing will be conducted at airports for passengers arriving from China and other countries. While the new strain has led to a massive surge in Covid cases in China, cases have also been detected in several countries including the US, the UK and European nations such as Belgium, Germany, France and Denmark.

As many as 16 hockey teams from across the globe will play 44 matches at two venues — the Birsa Munda Hockey Stadium in Rourkela and Kalinga Hockey Stadium in Bhubaneswar with the final on January 29 scheduled at the latter venue.

The teams competing in the tournament are Australia, Belgium, the Netherlands, Argentina, Germany, New Zealand, England, France, Korea, Malaysia, Spain, South Africa, Japan, Chile, and Wales apart from the hosts.

India are in Group D with Spain, England, and Wales, and will begin their campaign against Spain on Day 1 in Rourkela.

Speaking on the participating teams and their concerns amid the surge in Covid cases, Singh said, "No team has contacted us yet. Everything is going on as per schedule. The latest development has put HI in alert mode. Whatever instructions we receive from the central government, we will abide by them and ensure that the tournament is being organised in a protective environment."

As per news reports, BF.7 is a sub-lineage of the Omicron variant BA.5 and has the strongest infection ability since it is highly transmissible, has a shorter incubation period, and has a higher capacity to cause reinfection or infect even those vaccinated.

As far as cases detected in the country are concerned, the first was detected in October by Gujarat Biotechnology Research Centre. So far, two cases have been reported from Gujarat while one case has been reported from Bhubaneswar, one of the venues of the tournament.

BOXING NATIONALS

Suvidha, Radha post dominant victories

ENS/AGENCIES @ Bhopal

SUVIDHA Bhagat of Punjab and Madhya Pradesh's Radha Patidar impressed on the second day of the ongoing women's national boxing meet in Bhopal to move into the pre-quarterfinals.

Suvidha posted a dominant win (5-0) against Chandu of Jharkhand in a 48kg category contest while local boxer Patidar (52kg) won with a similar verdict against Himachal Pradesh's Ritu.

Another pugilist from Punjab, Komal, also put up a dominant show. The 50kg boxer advanced after beating Chhattisgarh's P Tanuja. Given Komal's dominance, the referee was forced to stop the contest.

Monika Malik (48kg) of Bengal, Rajni Singh (48kg) of Uttar Pradesh, Isha Thakur (50kg) of Himachal Pradesh, Kampi Boro of Assam (50kg), Hetal Dama of Gujarat (52kg) and Gayatri Kasnyal (54kg) of Uttarakhand were the other boxers to emerge victorious on the day.

Nikhat Zareen (50kg), the reigning world champ, will return to the ring on Thursday. She will be up against Meghalaya's Eva Marbaniang. Tokyo Olympics bronze medallist Lovlina Borgohain (75kg), who is representing Assam, will face Puja Nayak of Orissa in the Round of 16 bout on Friday.

Argentina WC victory parade ends abruptly

BUENOS AIRES: Millions of jubilant fans turned out on Tuesday to welcome home Argentina's World Cup winners, but most were left disappointed when an open-top bus parade had to be abandoned due to the massive crowds, in favor of a hastily organized helicopter tour. The bus had crawled along for almost five hours.

Pak recall Hasan Ali for New Zealand Tests

KARACHI: Fast-bowler Hasan Ali and prolific run-scorer Kamran Ghulam were included in the Pakistan squad for the Test series against New Zealand starting next week. The PCB named a 16-man squad for the two-match series against New Zealand, with the first Test in Karachi from December 26 and the second in Multan from January 3.

F1: New clauses on political statements

PARIS: Formula One drivers will need permission from the sport's governing body to display political or religious statements starting in 2023. The FIA's international sporting code, which governs the running of motorsport competitions, has been updated with new clauses under "breach of rules."

RSPB win freestyle overall championship

CHENNAI: Railway Sports Promotion Board (RSPB) won the men's freestyle team championship at the senior national wrestling meet that began in Visakhapatnam, Andhra Pradesh on Wednesday. Services Sports Control Board (SSCB) and Haryana were placed second and third, respectively.

GAME SUSPENDED DUE TO 'DANGEROUS & UNFIT' KARNAIL SINGH PITCH

AGENCIES @ New Delhi

THE Ranji Trophy match between Railways and Punjab at the Karnail Singh Stadium was on Wednesday suspended after the track was deemed "dangerous and unfit for play" by the match officials, who decided to have a two-day game on a new surface beginning Thursday. 24 wickets fell in just 103 overs with fast bowlers accounting for 20 of them when play was stopped by the match officials. Punjab were at 18 for 4 in their second essay after taking a 12-run first innings lead.

The decision was taken during the drinks break in the second session when on-field umpires K Madanagopal and Rajeev Godara discussed the matter with match referee Youraj Singh and also had a word with both captains — Mandeep Singh of Punjab and Karn Sharma of Railways. With the Elite Group D game reduced to a two-day affair, a result is highly unlikely, which might affect both Railways and Punjab's chances in the tournament.

In the past too, tracks of Karnail Singh Stadium had been in news for the wrong reasons with BCCI's technical committee putting the venue on a watchlist for producing poor pitches in 2011. A year later, the venue was banned for two years from hosting games after the committee discovered that local curators had deliberately under-prepared the wicket to help Railways, forcing the team to shift their home base to Bhubaneswar.

Samarth cracks 137

Bengaluru: Opener Ravikumar Samarth struck a century as Karnataka posted 304 all out in their first innings and then reduced Puducherry to 58 for three on the second day of their Group C match here on Wednesday. Resuming at 111 for 1, Samarth continued to anchor the Karnataka innings as he cracked a 242-ball 137 laced with 17 hits to the fence. Left-arm spinner Ankit Sharma snapped five wickets on Day 2 to go with the one he had taken on the opening day. But the hosts still managed to grab a crucial 134-run first innings lead.

Delhi take control

Guwahati: Dhruv Shorey struck an unbeaten double century as he guided Delhi to 439 on Day 2 of their Group B match against Assam. The 30-year-old continued from where he had left off on Tuesday, compiling his runs quickly till he finally ran out of partners at the Barsapara Cricket Stadium. At close of play, Assam were 158 for four.

LEICESTER TOO GOOD

Leicester proved too strong for Milton Keynes Dons as they won 3-0 away to the League One strugglers. Youri Tielemans, involved with Belgium at the World Cup, opened the scoring in the 18th minute before Ayoze Perez doubled the lead. Jamie Vardy put the icing on the cake with the third goal.

HARD-FOUGHT WIN FOR NEWCASTLE, SOUTHAMPTON

Newcastle edged their all top-flight clash with Bournemouth 1-0 at St James' Park after England defender Kieran Trippier provided the cross from which the Cherries' Adam Smith headed into his own net in the 67th minute.

2-1 Southampton came from behind to see off third-tier Lincoln 2-1.

Emotional Becker recounts prison experience

AFP @ Berlin

FORMER tennis superstar Boris Becker said he relied on "blood brothers" to protect him in a British prison and said his life was threatened twice in his first interview since being released.

The 55-year-old German was deported to Germany after being released last week having served eight months of a two and a half years sentence for flouting insolvency rules by hiding £2.5 million ($3.1 million) of assets and loans to avoid paying debts.

He had been declared bankrupt in June 2017, owing creditors £50 million over an unpaid loan of more than £3 million on his estate on the Spanish island of Majorca. In an often emotional three hour interview with German broadcaster Sat.1 the former tennis World No 1 said the nights in Wandsworth Prison — not far from where he won the Wimbledon title three times — were "atrocious."

He said he was fortunate to have forged close ties with a group of inmates he termed "blood brothers" as two prisoners he called 'John' and 'Ike' on separate occasions had threatened him. 'John', serving 25 years for multiple murders, threatened to harm him if he did not give him money.

'Ike' got him on his own and Becker says 10 prisoners "saved my life" rescuing him when he yelled out. "And then the next day Ike asked if I would accept his apology," said Becker.

"I could have rejected it.

"I encountered him in the laundry. He threw himself down to the ground and begged me for forgiveness.

"I raised him to his feet and hugged him.

"And I told him that I had great respect for him," added a tearful Becker.

Becker says he would remain in contact with those who protected him. "When you have fought for survival together, that brings you together," he said. "We needed each other."

Becker says the sound of the cell door closing will stay for him for the rest of his life. "When the cell door closes, then there is nothing left. The loneliest moment I've had in my life."

"The nights were atrocious.

"You could hear the screams from people trying to kill themselves or harm themselves, and people trading swear words.

"You don't sleep."

He described the prison as "extremely dirty and extremely dangerous . . . there were murderers, child abusers, drug dealers, every kind of criminal you can imagine".

The six-time Grand Slam champion claims it required the German ambassador to intervene to obtain an international phone card so he could contact his 87-year-old mother Elvira and other family abroad. Gradually his conditions improved he taught English and mathematics to a class of 30 inmates and then gained a move to the lower security Huntercombe prison near Oxford, southern England.

However, the governor there declined to permit his friend and compatriot Liverpool manager Jurgen Klopp to visit him. "Jurgen Klopp and Johannes B. Kerner (German TV presenter) — they wanted to visit me in Huntercombe prison," he said.

"So I gave the names — but the governor said: 'Jurgen is not allowed to visit you, he is too well known. We are concerned for his safety. So we have to reject that.'"

The sleepy town of Bengaluru took its first step towards becoming a bustling IT hub in the '90s. And software giant Infosys had a major role in this transition. As it hits the four-decade mark, CE touches base with the first-generation entrepreneurs who took the risk to turn the city into the 'Silicon Valley of India'

THE MAKING OF THE CITY

Even though Infosys has grown to be a large-scale global powerhouse, it still retains its culture of a small company in its transparency. It has its own challenges, you need to manage expectations of thousands of people, and it's a tough task

TV Mohandas Pai, former Infosys director

MONIKA MONALISA

IN January 1981, 35-year-old N R Narayana Murthy sat down in his apartment to discuss with six other software engineers – Nandan Nilekani, Kris Gopalkrishnan, SD Shibulal, NS Raghavan, Ashok Arora and K Dinesh – about how they could build a company that would create software codes. The idea might have seemed like a Herculean task but six months later on July 2, 1981, Infosys was officially registered as a private limited company. The rest is history as the company successfully turned 41 this year.

The founding fathers of Infosys recently met, but this time at the company's B'luru campus, which is spread across a sprawling 81 acres, with around 3.5 lakh employees. The journey has not been easy. "The moment I am asked what keeps me going during difficult times, I say 'respect'. I want to be able to earn the respect of all my stakeholders 20 or 40 years from now. So, my fervent request to all the wonderful entrepreneurs who are so smart, is to take a few minutes from their busy schedule and think about the issue that is raised and how we can earn the respect of every single person," Murthy said, addressing an auditorium full of people at a programme to commemorate the milestone.

Looking back in time, Gopalkrishnan, co-founder, recalls the totally different circumstances under which Infosys started. "When the company was set up in 1981, there was no internet, no social media, and no venture capital. There was only the spirit of entrepreneurship. Back then, there was no company that was globally competitive. A set of first generation entrepreneurs took that plunge. Things are very different today. But a part of that credit goes to our generation of founders who had that confidence to do something different," Gopalkrishnan had told CE in a freewheeling conversation recently.

A company has to stand the test of time. And Nilekani, who lightheartedly calls himself 'the last man standing', says you have to stay relevant to sustain in business. "If you become irrelevant, then nobody is interested in you, customers don't want to hear from you and employees don't want to work with you. A big achievement in the last several years has been keeping Infosys relevant," says Nikaleni, who went back to Infosys in 2017 to be part of the board of members and continues to serve in the post.

TV Mohandas Pai joined Infosys in 1994 as the chief financial officer and also served as board of members between May 2000-July 2011. "Even though Infosys has grown to be a large-scale global powerhouse, it still retains its culture of a small company in its transparency. It has its own challenges, you need to manage expectations of thousands of people, and it's a tough task," says Pai to CE.

Wind Beneath My Wings

N R Narayana Murthy started Infosys by borrowing ₹10,000 from his wife Sudha Murty, and it was likely the best financial investment. Looking back, Sudha Murty says it was hard to have a work-life balance during that time. "When you want to achieve something with passion, work-life balance won't work. That time Narayana Murthy was working hard, he didn't have any time to give to the house. I was giving my 100 per cent at home. I adjusted depending on Murthy's work," says Sudha, who soaked in the four-decade celebration by shaking a leg to singer Shreyal Ghoshal's live performance of Barso Re Megha recently.

A realm of faith that transcends logic

We got listed on NASDAQ on March 11, 1999. The first investor presentation was in February 1999 in Toronto. I had excruciating tooth pain. So I went to a 7/11 store next to my hotel, and I bought a cutting plier. Sometime during midnight, the pain worsened. So I prayed to God, took the pliers and pulled off the tooth. Everything went dark and I thought I was gone. But God is great. I was able to practice for the presentation and did a fantastic one the next day. That's why faith is very important.

- Narayana Murthy, co-founder, Infosys

With Christmas right around the corner, expats and long-time foreign residents in the city have been preparing for unique celebrations of the festival by bringing in elements from their culture

'Xpat' X'mas

TUNIR BISWAS

IF you cast your ear into the near future, you would hear that the jingle bells have begun ringing. With Christmas right around the corner, the city has geared itself to celebrate the festival in all forms and manners. But Bengaluru locals aren't the only ones stoked for the big day. Owing to the city's diversity in its populace, there exist many expats in the city, some who have been living here for multiple decades. They bring with them elements from their own culture, adding several touches of variety to the city's Christmas.

Jean Christian Randrianampizafy, the director of Alliance Française de Bangalore, believes French Christians do not feel out of place living in Bengaluru as it has an authentic Christmas culture. "In France, it is the time when the whole family gets together, we go to church by tradition, listen to choirs, gather around a big meal and give each other presents. Then there is the decoration of the house with Christmas objects and candles, and of course, the Christmas tree. The French in Bengaluru do pretty much the same things if they're not travelling. I would like to add that during this festival, we eat a special pastry called 'La bûche de Noël', which is a cake in the shape of a log to remind us of the link between Christmas and the tree. Fortunately, it is very easy to find it here," shares Randrianampizafy.

Frances Rao has been living in Bengaluru for 31 years and is celebrating Christmas in a modest manner. "I'm going to a friend's house for lunch. I will be taking the dessert. This festival has always been significant in the city for its large Christian community. Everything is nice around Christmas," says Rao, who originally hails from Washington DC, USA.

Likening to Rao in the modest spirit of things, Serbian model Aleksandar Radosavljevic plans to stay home for Christmas. "I plan on having an intimate get-together at home and spending time with my family over calls. Back in Serbia, you celebrate Christmas with your family, cut the Christmas tree and go to the church, wherein you put the tree," says Radosavljevic, a resident of Bengaluru for the past five years.

Contrary to both Rao and Radosavljevic, Elizabeth Bowden-David has been prepping for the festival from early December. "I got the tree on the first of the month. We do Christmas big at our house. We sing songs and carols and have a special cake that is my grandfather-in-law's recipe. We have homemade wine as well. Outside the traditions, I watch the films It's a Wonderful Life and A Christmas Story every year. My husband is from Kerala and I am from Alabama, US, so we bring our elements from our heritages. My children are also coming home from abroad this year and that makes it extra special," says Bowden-David, a B'luru resident for 17 years, adding that O Holy Night is her favourite Christmas song.

Outside of homely decorations and intimate festivities, there's a bit of a feast to be had on the occasion as well. Brazilian chef Guto Souza, executive chef & partner at Boteco – Restaurante Brasileiro, has curated a special menu for the festival that includes Brazilian specials. "We're going to have traditional elements of a Christmas meal in Brazil like the Christmas roasted turkey, home-cured Christmas ham with a sweet sauce and many more. However, I won't be there in the city for the occasion as I'm currently in New Zealand with my wife and daughter to visit my son. We haven't had the chance to spend time with him since Covid struck in 2020, and what better time than Christmas." says Souza.

School student raises funds to help government school students

On December 20, Hemal, a Grade 10 student of Canadian International School (CIS), and his friends raised over ₹11,000 for the Government Lower Primary School, Gantiganahalli, Yelahanka. Moved by the plight of the children, Hemal decided that the students had to be provided with some essential tools of education. The CIS students organised a friendly basketball match and a bake sale to raise funds for stationery items for 30 students of the school. They also donated 150 notebooks, 30 geometry boxes, and 30 crayon boxes. Speaking on the initiative, Hemal said, "We raised funds and distributed essentials after noticing the inequalities. One of the goals of life should be to reduce disparity among students and give them equal space, too."

FIT BIT

VIRABHADRASANA III VARIATION

(FORWARD BEND IN WARRIOR III POSE)

It is a dynamic standing asana that requires balance, strength, focus, and devotion. Traditionally, it stimulates the Sahasrara (Crown) Chakra, thereby providing a connection to the universe and oneness with the Divine.

STEPS

- After performing the Warrior II Pose, go a step further with the balance of the body.
- Inhale and place both the palms on the floor in front of your feet. Then, raise the right foot behind you, stretching the leg out completely.
- Balance your body on your left leg and both hands. This is Virabhadrasana III or Forward Bend in Warrior Pose. Maintain balance here for about four breaths. Breathe slowly.
- You can use the support of a yoga block or the wall, to enjoy the stretch at the hips and the legs while maintaining the balance.
- Now breath is steady, legs, abdominals and arms energised and engaged, keep shoulders away from ears.
- To come out of the pose, bring back your right foot to the floor, use the abdominal muscles to mindfully step back to the original position and relax.
- Repeat the whole process with the other leg.

BENEFITS

- Improves focus, balance and stability.
- Strengthens your shoulders, arms, legs, ankles and back.
- Opens your hips, chest and lungs.
- Encourages good respiration.
- Stretches your arms, legs, shoulders, neck, belly, groins and ankles.
- Energises the entire body.
- Reduces stubborn fat from hips.
- Useful for people suffering from sciatica.
- Enhances blood circulation.
- Helps to stimulate abdominal organs and aids digestion.
- Builds stamina, develops a sense of balance and coordination.

LIMITATIONS

People suffering from any chronic disorder or any spinal cord ailments, women during pregnancy, high blood pressure patients, or those with soreness in knees or rheumatoid arthritis, avoid.

If you have a problem in your neck, keep your head straight.

Don't put too much emphasis on your physical potential.

HANDLE YOUR CRAMPS

Writer's cramps are on the rise and here is a lowdown on what it is, the symptoms and how to protect your fingers and hands from pain

Illustration: Sourav Roy

DR SHUBHA SUBRAMANIAN

WE have heard about writer's block, where the author is unable to generate new content or when he experiences a creative slowdown mentally. While this condition is normal, there is a medical condition called writer's cramp that has been on the rise.

According to research, 7 to 69 people per million are affected by this disorder. It is a specific type of dystonia causing involuntary movements that affects fingers, hand and forearm. The brain sends incorrect information to the muscles causing involuntary, excessive muscle contractions. This often leads to neurologic movement disorder causing the hand to twist in odd postures. The cause is usually due to writing for long hours or when a person begins to write after a long gap.

Symptoms

It begins with pain in the fingers initially and slowly aggravates to the shoulders. The fingers can also get numb, leading to the person writing to lose grip of pen or pencil. The muscles stop cooperating as the cues given by brain are abnormal thereby affecting motor skills, movement, and sensory functions. Other symptoms include:

- Unable to hold the pen or pencil for long period
- Wrists flexing
- Fingers extending during writing, making it difficult to hold the pen
- Wrists and elbow moving in unusual positions
- Hands and fingers not responding to the commands
- Fingers gripping the pen/pencil hard

Types

In simple writer's cramp condition, the hand will respond normally during other activities but will get uncontrollable only during trigger moments. In dystonia involving the hand, any basic activity involving hands may get difficult to proceed with.

Treatment options

Simple exercises using soft balls can be done on regular intervals to alleviate the issue. Other treatments include oral medications — use of drugs, botox injections, with surgery being the last resort. Relaxation and distraction exercises, if practiced periodically may reduce the stiffness in the muscles and improving brain signals to the muscles over time.

Although there is no direct cure for writer's cramp, treatment can lead to symptomatic improvement. A fair amount of physical, mental and drug therapy helps to retain the ability to write.

It is also important for parents and teachers to understand that the children can go through writer's cramp condition and need to help them overcome this without imposing fear.

Tips for healthy writing

You can prevent or protect from pain while writing by correcting the writing and sitting position. Irregular postures will affect the way you use your arm and hand. Some of the tips are as follows:

- Keep you elbow positioned in 90 degrees or more.
- Avoid stressing your forearm.
- Reduce your finger motions and keep them relaxed. Ensure your that knuckles do not turn white when you write.
- Instead of moving your finger frequently, use the wrist and forearm to adjust the pen or pencil position.
- Use an inclined surface to keep your wrist relaxed
- Try and holding the pen between the index and middle fingers to prevent thumb pain.
- Write at a reasonable pace with frequent breaks in between sessions.

CAUSES

Although research is ongoing for writer's cramp, focal dystonia is a problem with how the brain gives orders to the muscles. A simple writer's cramp is associated with overuse of the pen, poor writing or holding the pen posture. Dystonia affects even the non-writing tasks like holding the simple things gets difficult or affect typing for long. It is possible that writer's cramp can be inherited so it can be associated with genetics.

Know the signs of Learning Disability and what measures work

DR RAGHAVENDRA KUMAR K

LEARNING Disability (LD) is a neurodevelopmental disorder due to which a child is unable to store, process and produce information which impacts their ability to read, write, listen, think, speak or perform mathematical calculations. These disabilities are also referred to as Specific Learning Difficulties and Dyslexia.

Different types of learning disabilities

Dyslexia - Difficulty with reading, problems reading, writing, spelling, speaking
Dyscalculia - Difficulty with math, understanding time, using money
Dysgraphia - Difficulty with writing, spelling, organising ideas
Dyspraxia - Difficulty with fine motor skills, hand-eye coordination, balance, manual dexterity

Signs and symptoms of LD

Children with learning disabilities often showcase several symptoms which include

- Difficulty in reading and dislike it
- Multiple spellings for common words
- Difficulty in spotting sounds syllables
- Inability to express thoughts and ideas in writing
- Messy handwriting

Identifying the problem

Parents must talk to their child's teacher if they feel that their child is having trouble in school and ask questions related to their child's progress in reading, writing and math. Teachers can help identify if there is a pattern of problems by analysing the test results of a child. Children with learning disabilities often suffer from self-esteem issues and think of themselves as stupid. Parents must step in and should educate their children about their learning disability and must offer support.

Early identification the source of a child's problem can help in getting early diagnosis and treatment for their child and will result in greater success and progress.

It is also important to note that you must also praise your child while they are focusing on something. Celebrating their achievements, and abilities and making time to listen to them can help in instilling confidence in your child.

Researchers identify triggers for long Covid

As millions suffer from fatigue and other other symptoms of long Covid, researchers have presented new evidence of triggers for fatigue following the SARS-COV-2 infection. The team from University of Vienna and the Medical University of Vienna, led by chemist Christopher Gerner, showed that an exaggerated anti-inflammatory response is likely to be responsible for long Covid syndrome. Although auto-immunity was previously suspected as the main cause of long Covid, there is no evidence of accompanying inflammatory processes in the long Covid syndrome patients. According to the new study published in iScience, not the excessive inflammatory reaction but anti-inflammatory substances as the triggers for the long Covid syndrome. Contrary to previous expectations, the researchers were able to find several anti-inflammatory proteins, lipids and metabolites in long Covid patients, which on the one hand could contribute to the most important long Covid syndrome symptoms, and, on the other hand, point to the formation of alternatively polarised macrophages as the cause. In the course of a viral infection, there is normally a very strong activation of the immune system. But in virtually all of the long Covid patients studied, corresponding markers such as cytokines, acute phase proteins and eicosanoids, which indicate inflammation, were in fact hardly detectable. "All important potential markers for acute inflammatory processes were below the levels of healthy donors or not detectable at all in LCS patients," said Gerner.

A SHARADHAA

I DON'T KNOW HOW TO DESCRIBE THIS LONG JOURNEY IN A FEW WORDS: SHIVARAJKUMAR

The Century Star talks about his milestone 125th film, Vedha, the women power in the family, collaborating with director Harsha for the 4th time, and the first venture under the home production, Geetha Pictures

VEDHA will be the 125th film for Shivarajkumar, who will be joining the list of very few actors in Indian cinema, who have achieved this remarkable milestone. At a time, when actors are finding it difficult to even cross 100 films, the Hattrick hero expresses his elation in joining the illustrious list that includes Kannada stalwarts like Vishnuvardhan, Ambareesh, Anant Nag, Srinath, and his very own Appaji Dr Rajkumar. "My career began with Anand in 1986, and this February, I will be completing 37 years in this wonderful industry. Looking back, I don't know how to describe this long journey. I'm still trying to understand where the energy is coming from. Having said that, I see every film as my first film, and that enables me to make a fresh start," he says.

Incidentally, Vedha is all the more special for Shivanna who is backing it under his home banner, Geetha Pictures, in association with Zee Studios. The actor recalls how his debut was backed by his mother and producer, Parvathamma Rajkumar, and now he has his wife, Geetha, bankrolling his 125th project. "There is more women power in our family, which has always existed since Appaji's days, and the tradition now continues," he asserts.

Shivanna admits that he never really had a career goal, and just went with the flow, and enjoyed the work that came his way. "My films had me collaborate with various directors, production houses, and actors. Every film looks after a handful of families. How the film fares at the box office became secondary, but I was happy to learn my producers wanted to invest in me because my films puts them in a 'safe' zone," says Shivanna, adding, "Life is precious, and I feel we should utilise it in the right way. If a film is going to take 200 days, it shouldn't be distributed between 3-4 years. By the time that film is complete, the team, and the actor will age by four years, and that cannot be reversed."

There was a time when Shivanna did back-to-back films with director MS Rajashekar, and he has done something similar with filmmaker Harsha too. Vedha marks their fourth collaboration after Vajrakaya, and the two Bhajarangi films. "Harsha brings in a lot of creativity with each film, and Vedha is no different. Though there are films, which has revolved around such familiar stories, Harsha's treatment will make all the difference. I liked how he brought about the commercial elements, the suspense factor, and blended it all with a neat message," he says.

Shivanna believes that Vedha, unlike his previous collaborations with Harsha, has a realistic approach. Vedha features Shivanna in two distinct timelines — the Brutal 60s and the present age — and will deal with a pertinent theme, which is relevant even today. "Vedha is a tale of love, life, happiness, and trust. The women in the film — Ganavi Laxman, Aditi Sagar, Veena Ponnappa, Shwetha Chengappa, and Umashree — are the pillars of Vedha," says Shivanna. Making a special mention about Umashree, Shivanna says that she is an excellent artiste who brings so much energy to the film. Reminiscing about the toughest moment of his life, the loss of his brother Puneeth Rajkumar, Shivarajkumar says, "The work for Vedha had already begun. The sets were put up, artists were finalised, and schedules were fixed, which had to be taken into consideration. Somehow I picked up the courage and began filming for Vedha. It was the commitment towards cinema that allowed me to get on to the sets."

Talking about how he gets to play the leading man even at the age of 60, Shivanna says, "This is the outcome of the pampering I get from the industry and the co-artists. Everyone treats me of their age, and that gives me positive energy. Apart from that, the support from my fans and my family support is what keeps me going," says Shivanna, who feels content about the kind of characters coming his way, which respect his experience and versatility. However, Shivanna still harbours certain dream roles. "I want to experiment with mythological and devotional characters and work in films like Bhakta Kumbara, Santa Tukaram, and something that Nagarjuna played in Annamayya. I want to make such films for this technologically evolved generation," says Shivanna.

While he has an interesting lineup of films in Kannada including Ghost, Karataka Dhamanaka, 45, Shivanna is also expanding his horizons to other languages. "At this moment of my career, I'm not trying to mark my name in other languages. I am just discovering newer films and roles. I am not part of other language films to become popular or to compete with someone. Sharing screen space with actor Rajinikanth in Jailer is a different feeling altogether, and I am still to shoot a few portions with the Superstar. As for Dhanush, I'm a fan of his work from the time he began his career, and I've watched all his films. The role was good in Captain Miller, and I found the required spark to be part of this film," he signs off.

Last season of Step Up: High Water to premiere on Lionsgate Play soon

CE FEATURES

THE third season of American drama series Step Up: High Water is set to premiere on Lionsgate Play in India on December 30, the platform announced on Wednesday.

The series is based on popular film franchise Step Up and follows the drama, scandalous romance and rivalries that connect the worlds of music and dance. It follows the lofe of Sage Odom who founded an Atlanta performance arts school. The show is created by Holly Sorensen,

Helmed by Dawn Wilkinson, who directed five out of the ten episodes, said the storylines are not only socially relevant but also entertaining."I've always felt like that is the best way of storytelling. You want the audience to be on the journey with the characters; to have empathy for the situations that the characters are in," he added.

"That's the best we can do as storytellers - create that empathy and communicate a world that may not be familiar and make it something that people can relate to and understand," Wilkinson said. Step Up: High Water stars Christina Milian, Keiynan Lonsdale, Terrence Green, Eric Graise, Jade Chynoweth, Carlito Olivero, Kendra Oyesanya, Faizon Love, Tricia Helfer D A, Terayle Hill, Rebbi Rosie and Enrique Murciano.

Sanjana Anand teams up with rapper Chandan Shetty for Suthradhari

The film directed by Kiran Kumar has the Salaga actor performing a special song, specially composed for the New Year celebrations

Chandan Shetty and Sanjana Anand

CE FEATURES

SANJANA Anand of Salaga fame to join hands with rapper-turned-hero, Chandan Shetty for a special song appearance in Suthradhari. The whodunit thriller directed by Kiran Kumar is almost through with shooting the talkie portions and the crew has begun the song sequences.

The first song of the film is currently been shot in a lavish set at Innovative city. The team shared the first few stills from the sets. "This is an introduction song composed and sung by Chandan Shetty, who also plays the lead. Sanjana Anand is first sharing screen space with the rapper. This song, which will be part of the film, is specially made for the New Year celebrations and will be out on December 27," says the director. The film backed by Navarasan will have Apurva playing the female lead, and senior actor Tabla Nani playing a prominent character.

Sutradhari will have PKH Dass handling the cinematography.

Black Adam will not be in DC's "first chapter of storytelling"

CE FEATURES

ACTOR Dwayne Johnson, on Wednesday confirmed that his character Black Adam from DC will not be in the "first chapter of storytelling" of its cinematic universe.

In a statement issued on social media, Dwayne wrote, "James Gunn and I connected and Black Adam will not be in their first chapter of storytelling. However, DC and Seven Bucks (his production company) have agreed to continue exploring the most valuable ways Black Adam can be utilized in future DC multiverse chapters." He further added, "James and I have known each other for years and have always rooted for each other to succeed. It's no different now and I will always root for DC (and Marvel) to win and WIN BIG." Dwayne said that the decisions taken by James and DC leadership "represent their vision of DCU through their creative lens".

Dwayne also acknowledged the love and reactions he received for Black Adam and extended the gratitude, "After 15 years of relentless hard work to finally make Black Adam, I'm very proud of the film we delivered for fans worldwide."

The Black Adam announcement comes after James Gunn and Peter Safran were appointed as DC Studios heads, who have been reshaping the future of the DCU characters. Replying to Dwayne, James wrote on Twitter, "Love The Rock & I'm always excited to see what he & Seven Bucks do next. Can't wait to collaborate soon."

Manoj Bajpayee's Joram to premiere at Rotterdam Film Festival

THE survival thriller Joram, starring Manoj Bajpayee, is set to have its world premiere in the Big Screen Competition section at the 52nd edition of the International Film Festival Rotterdam (IFFR). The film festival is to be held from January 26 to February 6 in the Netherlands.

Joram, according to the film's logline, narrates the story of a bereaved father who must be on the run with his baby girl across half the country to escape the ghosts of his past and the forces that want him dead at any cost.

The film, directed by Devashish Makhija, marks the third collaboration between the director and Manoj Bajpayee after their short film Tandav and the 2020 feature Bhonsle, for which The Family Man star got the National Award for best actor.

Talking about their creative partnership, Manoj said: "I always remain very proud of my artistically fulfilling relationship with them."

Set in Jharkhand and Mumbai, Joram is also Devashsish's third film to be screened at the Rotterdam festival after Ajji and Bhonsle. Recounting his experience, Manoj said: "It is a riveting story of a man torn between his past and present. I loved playing the intricate character, Darsu, who, on the outside, looks like an ordinary man who people may not even notice, but in no way is he a common man. A brilliant story with such impactful characters." Devashish said the film bridges the gap between artistic cinema and the mainstream. The lines dividing the two streams of filmmaking, he said, keep changing rapidly.

He said: "In its vision and its making, our film has sought to bridge that ever-shifting gap between artistic cinema and the mainstream, hopefully having pulled in the best of both."

The film also stars Zeeshan Ayyub, Smita Tambe and Megha Mathur, and features guest appearances by Tannishtha Chatterjee and Rajshri Deshpande. Talking about his role, Zeeshan said: "I play Ratnakar, a city-bred cop, who is low on the social ladder and therefore among his colleagues too.

Being a city-bred person myself, to me this film, especially my first-ever trip into the forests to shoot it and the iron ore mines, made me realise how much of 'me' was in Ratnakar -- that my access to education and middle-class angst was a luxury compared to the bleak, stark and forever-on-the-edge lives the truly underprivileged live daily." Presented by Zee Studios, Joram will be released in India next year.
